CANDIDATES NOTIFIED.

Hancock and English Waited on by the Committee,

And Officially Notified of Their Nomination.

Text of the Letters Addressed to the Nominees.

Numerous Distinguished Citizens Present—Death of Gen. Hancock's Grandson.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 13.—Concurrently with the presentation to General Hancock and Mr. English of the address officially informing them of their nomination respectively for President and Vice-President of the United States, a copy of the platform adopted at Cincinnati was presented. The copies prepared for this purpose were elegantly engrossed on parchment, and arranged to fold neatly to the size of a large MS. within silk-lined, handsomely bound Russia leather cases of pocketable size. The committee separated at the New York Hotel, to reassemble there at 12 o'clock, preparatory to departing for Governor's Island to fulfill their important duty.

INVITING VISITORS.

To a number of leading Democrats now sojourning in the city, including all the members of the National Committee, and those of the Congressional Democratic Campaign Committee, they had issued invitations to accompany them, of which the following is a copy:

NEW YORK, July 12, 1880.—DEAR SIR:—The Committee selected to inform the Democratic candidates for President and Vice-President of their nomination by the Cincinnati Convention invite you or your representative to meet them at the New York Hotel to-morrow (Tuesday) at 12 o'clock, whence they and their guests will proceed to Governor's Island. Yours very truly,

JOHN P. STOCKTON,
Chairman.

ON GOVERNOR'S ISLAND.

Soon after the hour named the committee and guests departed from the New York Hotel to get on board the steamboat Fletcher, at the foot of West Twenty-fourth street, on which they were taken to Governor's Island.

ENGLISH DODGES.

William H. English, the Democratic nominee for Vice-President, was eagerly sought for by a number of prominent Democrats and a score or more of reporters. At the fifth Avenue Hotel this morning, but he outflanked them by taking an early breakfast, after which he quited the hotel, accompanied by his son, William H. English, Jr. The two then took a walk in upper Broadway, visited friends, and at eleven went to Governors Island, where a conference was held with General Hancock.

The Committee Meeting.

NEW YORK, July 13.—The committee appointed by the Cincinnati Convention to inform its candidates of their nomination met in the New York Hotel at 9 o'clock this morning, ex-Senator Jno. P. Stockton, of New Jersey, in the chair. The sub-committee—composed of Stockton; John W. Daniels, Virginia; Gen. D. M. Debose, Georgia; ex-Governor Saulsbury, Delaware; R. M. Speer, Pennsylvania; Geo. Hoadly, Ohio, and Augustus Schoenmaker, New York—reported drafts of letters to Gen. Hancock and Mr. English, which were adopted and signed by all the members of the Committee of Notification. The letter to Gen. Hancock is as follows:

The Letter to Gen. Hancock.

July 13, 1880.

To General Hancock:

SIR—The National Convention of the Democratic party, which assembled at Cincinnati the 22d of last month, unanimously nominated you as their candidate for President of the United States. We have been directed to inform you of your nomination for the exalted trust, and request your acceptance in accordance with the uniform custom of the Democratic party. The convention have announced their views upon the important issues which are before the country in a series of resolutions to which we invite your attention. The resolutions embody the general principles upon which the Democratic party demand that the Government shall be conducted and they also emphatically condemn the maladministration by the party in power, its crimes against the Constitution and especially against the right of the people to choose and install their President, which have wrought so much injury and dishonor in our country. That which chiefly inspired your nomination was the fact that you had conspicuously recognized and exemplified the yearning of the American people for reconciliation and brotherhood under the shield of the Constitution with all its jealous care and guarantees for the rights of persons and of States. Your nomination was not made alone because in the midst of arms you illustrated the highest qualities of the soldier, but because when war had ended and when in recognition of your courage and fidelity you were placed in command of a part of the Union undergoing the process of restoration, and while you were thus clothed with absolute power you used it not to subvert but to sustain the civil laws and the rights they were established to protect. Your fidelity to those principles manifested in important trusts heretofore confined to your care gives proof that they will control your administration of the National Government and assures the country that one indissoluble Union of indestructible States and a Constitution with its wise distribution of power and regard for the boundaries of State and federal authority will not suffer in your hands, that you will maintain the subordination of the military to the civil power and will accomplish the purification of the public service, and especially that the government which we love will be free from reproach or stain of sectional agitation or malice in any shape or any form. Rejoicing in common with the masses of the American people upon this bright promise for the future of our country, we wish also to express to you personally the assurance of the general esteem and confidence which have summoned you to this high duty, and will aid you in its performance.

Your fellow-citizens,

[Signed] JOHN W. STEVENSON,
President of the Convention.
NICHOLAS M. BELL, Sec'y.

The Letter to English.

July 13, 1880.

To the Hon. Wm. H. English:

DEAR SIR—By direction of the Democratic National Convention, which assembled at Cincinnati June 22 last, it becomes our pleasant duty to notify you that you were unanimously nominated by that body for the office of Vice-President of the United States. Your large experience of the affairs of government, your able discharge of many trusts committed to your hands, your steadfast devotion to Democratic principles and the uprightness of your private character give assurance to the Democracy that you are worthy and well qualified to perform the duties of that high position, and commended you to them for the nomination which they conferred.

While your personal qualities and your public services well merited this hornor, the action of the convention was no doubt designed not only to vindicate their appreciation of yourself, but as well to testify their profound respect for the Democracy of Indiana, your native State, with whose manly struggles you have been so long identified, and in whose glorious achievements you have shared. The convention set forth its views upon the leading political issues which are now before the people in a series of resolutions, a copy of which we have the honor to present to you and to which your attention is respectfully requested. It is our earnest hope that these views may meet your approbation and that you will accept the nomination which is now tendered you.

With sentiments of high esteem we are respectfully,

[Signed] JOHN W. STEVENSON,
President of the Covention.
NICHOLAS M. BELL,
Secretary.

Brief Replies of Hancock and English.

NEW YORK, July 13.—The committee to notify the candidates arrived at Governor's Island on a special boat. They were met by Gen. Hancock in the parlor of his house. John P. Stockton presented the Secretary, who read the official notification. Hancock's reply was brief. He thanked the committee for the honor conferred and stated he would have his letter of acceptance ready shortly, in which he would say all he had to say to them in reply.

Mr. Stockton then formally notified Mr. English of his nomination. In reply he stated he accepted the high trust conferred with feelings of profound gratitude, and would at an early day convey his acceptance in the customary manner. Personal introductions of the members of the committee to the candidates followed.

The National Committee.

NEW YORK, July 13.—The Democratic National Committee met at the Fifth Avenue Hotel at noon to-day. William H. Barnum, of Connecticut, was unanimously elected chairman and Frederick O. Prince, of Massachusetts, secretary. The committee then adjourned to Governor's Island to attend the presentation of the nomination to Gen. Hancock.

Death of General Hancock's Infant Grandson.

NEW YORK, July 13.—General Hancock's grandson, aged five months, named after himself, died this morning from cholera infantum. This death has depressed the General, and the visit of the committee of the National Convention to tender the nomination is in consequence purely formal. Mr. English reached Governor's Island at noon and was heartily greeted by Gen. Hancock on the veranda of his residence. The committee left the New York Hotel in a body, and with the members of the National Committee and other visitors are now on the Island.

Garfield Makes a Correction.

CINCINNATI, July 13.—Gen. Garfield's attention being called to a supposed blunder in the transmission of that part of his letter of acceptance which read, "I cordially indorse the principles set forth in the the platform adopted by the convention on nearly all the subjects on which it treats. My opinions are on record among the published proceeding of Congress," says that the error is one of punctuation. The manuscript reads thus: "I cordially indorse the principles set forth in the platform adopted by the convention.

"On nearly all the subjects on which it treats my opinions are on record among the published proceedings of Congress."

A DOUBLE TRAGEDY.

The Fatal Result of a Banker's Refusal to Loan Money.

COLUMBUS, O., July 13.—At noon to-day S. S. Rickley, president of the Capital City Bank, was shot through the forehead while standing at his desk by Andrew Eichenberg, a German dyer. Eichenberg was on the street and as soon as he shot Mr. Rickley, he placed the revolver at his temple and shot himself, dying almost instantly. Mr. Rickley may possibly live, but the chances are against him. The trouble grew out of Mr. Rickley's refusal to loan Eichenberg money.

Incendiary Fire.

TROY, N. Y. July 14.—Hartwells & Winslow's planing mill and saw mill, belonging to the Mutual Life Insurance Company, at Plattsburg, burned; incendiarism. Loss, $40,000; insurance, $30,000.

About 480 communists living in different parts of Europe will be entitled to return.

Germany.

BERLIN, July 13.—The villa of Theodore Mommsen, a distinguished professor and antiquarian at Charlottenburg suburb, has been burned down. Professor Mommsen was severely injured. A very valuable collection of scientific and historical works, etc., collected with great trouble and expense from all over the world, was destroyed. The loss is irreparable.

Turkey.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 13.—News has reached the Porte from Sofia that Prince Alexander has submitted confidentially to certain powers a project for the incorporation of a portion of Eastern Roumelia with Bulgaria, the rest to be restored to the Sultan. Information shows the project is favored by one of the two powers to whom it was submitted.

AN ENGLISH STEAMER ATTACKED BY ARABS.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 13.—The English steamer Khalifas, of the Euphrates line, has been attacked by Arabs, who maintained a fusilade for an hour but did not succeed in boarding the steamer. The quartermaster and one passenger were killed and the captain wounded. The Turkish authorities at Bagdad promise to investigate the outrage.

Russia.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 13.—As a consequence of the defective harvest prospects, the question is discussed of forbidding the export of wheat. Reports of the deficiency are confirmed in South Russia, and a general restriction of the deficiency extends to other parts of the country.

THE RUSSIAN GRAIN CROP.

The Manchester Guardian says: The prohibition of the export of grain from Russia will be a serious matter for Germany, where the rye crops are especially poor. Under the circumstances it seems likely Germany this year will be, notwithstanding the grain duties an important customer of American surplus grain.

England.

LONDON, July 13.—Bradlaugh has taken an objection that Wilmot's Parliamentary disqualification bill against atheists has been irregularly introduced in the House, as standing orders require that all bills relating to religion be first considered in committee of the whole house.

ROME, July 13.—Monsignor Jacobini, the Papal Nuncio, has written from Vienna saying he does not see his way clear to prosecute negotiations with Germany unless he is allowed full powers. He says he does not consider his recent instructions calculated to attain the desired end.

NO HOPE FOR CHASTINE COX.

Gov. Cornell Refuses to Interfere—To be Hanged Friday.

NEW YORK, July 13.—Gov. Cornell has decided not to interfere with the case of Chastine Cox, sentenced to be hanged Friday. When Cox was informed of the decision of the Governor he said: "It's hard to die this way, but I hardly expected the Governor would interfere. I am prepared for the worst now." Later Cox remarked to the prison-keeper: "Upon considering the matter I don't know but what it is better for me to die than to spend my life in prison." When Cox informed Balbo, the young Italian under sentence of death, that he (Cox) had but three more days to live. Balbo exclaimed, "My God!" and retreated to the furthermost corner of his cell.

Wm. F. Howe, counsel for Cox, has sent the following telegram to the Governor:

"I declare it to be inhuman and unjust to deny a hearing to the friendless negro, Cox. You accord it to Balbo, an Italian. On what principle, then, do you deny a hearing to one of your own countrymen?"

LOST ON THE LAKE.

The City of St. Catherines Goes to the Bottom—The Passengers Saved.

SARNIA, ONTARIO, July 13.—The steamer City of St. Catherines was in collision with the American steam barge George R. Marsh off White Rock Point, forty-two miles from here. The City of St. Catherines was struck near the bow and went to the bottom inside of fifteen minutes. Her cargo of general merchandise and five horses, bound for Chicago, were all lost. The crew and passengers, numbering fifty, were saved and brought here by the tug David W. Rust, close by at the time of the collision. The upper works of the St. Catherines floated away from the hull and the passengers' effects were taken off by a boat from the Rust. The Marsh was so badly damaged that she had to be towed back to port. Gross carelessness is charged as the cause of the collision.

AN IOWA SHOOTING.

A Prosecuting Attorney Shoots the Defendant in a Criminal Case.

SIOUX CITY, IOWA, July 13.—At Lumars Sunday evening Major C. J. C. Bell shot and dangerously wounded Dr. W. B. Porter, the ball entering the neck just below the lobe of the right ear and looging in the bones on the opposite side. Both are prominent citizens. The affair caused great excitement. The trouble originated in Bell being prosecuting attorney in a rape case where Porter was defendand. At the time of the shooting the men met on the street, words passed between them which no one was near enough to hear, when Bell fired, claiming that had he not got the drop on Porter he would have been shot himself. Porter says he was not armed, and this is corroborated. It is now probable he will recover.

THE STARVING WONDER.

Dr. Tanner Thinner and Weaker, but Still in the Ring.

Preparations for a Collapse—Opinions of Physicians—Tanner's Appearance.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 13.—A short time after ten o'clock last night Dr. Tanner's pulse beat 107 times a minute, and his temperature was 98°. The Doctor had a great disposition to sleep during the night. At 11 o'clock he desired the attendant to catch some rain water, as rain was falling heavily. He has bathed his face and hands with this water very frequently, and appears to enjoy it. In the early morning the faster appeared feverish and restless.

The attending physicians have provided an electric machine in order to apply it to the doctor in case of a sudden collapse. If he sinks suddenly and is thought to be dying electricity will be applied and nourishment given him. Dr. Badham, one of the regular Doctors, and who watches Dr. Tanner more than any one else, thinks the faster is sinking. He bases his opinion on the expressionless appearance of the eyes and the forgetfulness shown by the faster. This lack of memory is attributed to exhaustion of the tissues of the brain.

NO APPARENT CHANGE

is noticeable in the doctor's face. The eyes look bad, but the cheeks and other parts of the face appear to be full of blood. At seven o'clock this morning the doctor's pulse was 98° and his temperature 97 1-2°.

Archbishop Purcell's Assets.

CINCINNATI, July 13.—John B. Manoix, assignee of Archbishop Purcell, is invoking the aid of the law to increase the assets of his trust. To-day he brought suit to set aside an alleged fraudulent conveyance of property, and to recover $44,000 from Elizabeth W. Boyle and daughters.

NO BUNKO.

Judge Finney Explains the Absence of the Tiger—A Digression Upon the Salvation Army.

"How many bunko men will the census of 1880 contain for St. Louis, Mr. Finney?" said a POST-DISPATCH reporter this morning.

"I don't think even the letter-carriers could have caught their names," answered he, smiling, "they are pretty scarce, and it is an element in the population that don't materialize well."

"You have cleared the town, then?"

"Yes, sir; we have swept out the town utterly, horse, foot and dragoons."

"The department had some hard work doing it, however?"

"They had; but their success has been complete. The bunko men effected a lodgment during the races, but within three weeks they were utterly routed. I would venture to say there are none of them left."

"Anything else new in police circles, Judge?"

"No; except the hot weather."

"Well, beat is hardly a police item, you know—no more than religion or the nebular hypothesis. How does the salvation army come on in its general assault on sin, by the way?"

"Oh, they are doing finely. I can't say much for their effects here in the Sheriff's office. You see our boys are like the old woman—you've heard about the old woman?"

"That depends on which archaic feminine you mean?"

"This particular old woman was attending a church where a very powerful preacher was addressing the congregation. Everybody was worked up, you know, and excited, but a polar expedition wasn't a circumstance to the frigidity of that female. At last one of the deacons came to the woman and asked her why she wasn't in tears. 'Oh! I don't belong to this church,' she said, 'I'm a Free Will Baptist.'"

DR. TANNER'S DOUBTERS.

Is He Really Subsisting on Large Draughts of Air?

MISTRUSTFUL MOVEMENTS.

Possibility of Nourishment Being Conveyed to the Doctor in Pills or Pastiles.

[From the New York Herald.]

All members of the medical profession who have taken any interest in the wonderful fast of forty days undertaken by Dr. Tanner express great surprise at the vitality exhibited by him on the thirteenth day of the trial. Heretofore this period has been looked upon by all schools of medicine as a critical point and as almost the limit of human endurance. At no preceding time, however, since he commenced the task, has the man who claims to have lived solely on air and water for almost two weeks appeared so lively as he did on Friday night. With the exception of the few hours when abused nature asserted her rights and bound him in chains of sleep he was not only brisk in his manner but seemed free from all pain, and walked up and down the gallery near his cot with a firm and rapid step. His face gave no indication of the terrible struggle through which he was passing. It had not only lost the emaciated appearance which characterized it on the tenth day, but seemed to be as full and round as that of a man in perfect health. Skeptical physicians after examining him thoroughly admitted their astonishment, and asked how he accounted for his almost perfect condition. To such he replied that they had much to learn concerning the human body. "Man," he said, "is like a plant or vegetable, and can live under certain conditions for a great deal longer period than is generally supposed on air and water alone. I do not claim superior powers of endurance, nor do I think that all men can live as long as I can without food, but any one with an indomitable will can exist on those elements which afford nourishment to the whole vegetable kingdom." He refused to answer questions concerning the present condition of his appetite, remarking with a smile that he thought he could make sad havoc in a ten-acre watermelon patch. This craving for fruits and continual use of water to rinse his mouth and bathe his head and hands seem to indicate fever. This puzzled the doctors, as the present normal state of the body does not bear out these indications. Whenever his condition was commented on he grew light-hearted and gay, and asserted his determination to go through with his self-imposed task to the bitter end.

At half-past ten Friday night, when the night relay of the Herald watch came on, Dr. Tanner was sleeping quietly. At twelve o'clock Dr. Wilder (eclectic) and Dr. Kunze relieved Drs. Neil and Molesworth. At one a. m. Dr. Harwood, having waited an hour over time for his relief (who did not come at all), went away. On learning that Dr. Harwood had gone, Dr. Tanner inquired if either of the doctors present represented Bellevue. On learning that they did not, he remarked: "They have broke up, haven't they." He told Dr. Wilder there was a bad taste in his mouth, which caused him to want frequent rinsing.

MOVEMENTS NOT FREE OF SUSPICION.

While Dr. Tanner was rinsing his mouth on this occasion Dr. Wilder stood near him at the head of the bed. He had his watch in his right hand as if he intended to try Dr. Tanner's pulse. The thumb and fingers of his left hand were in his vest pocket. Suddenly he made a quick, nervous pass of the left hand to Dr. Tanner's mouth. It seemed as if done to catch the glass which Dr. Tanner was holding to his mouth, and it may have been for this purpose, or it may not. It was impossible to see what it was for, so quick was the movement. Dr. Tanner certainly continued to hold the glass. It would be unjust to Dr. Wilder and to Dr. Tanner to say that there was anything wrong about this—that the pass made by Dr. Wilder from his pocket to Dr. Tanner's mouth was anything but accidental; but at the same time it was just one of those little incidents which shake confidence in the genuineness of the whole affair, because one recognizes instantly that, supposing food was not then conveyed, yet it was a movement by which food would be conveyed if the parties were in collusion, and Dr. Wilder is known to be one of the strong supporters of Dr. Tanner. At the moment it occurred Dr. Kunze was busy at the table and intent solely on measuring some water in another glass. Dr. Harwood, in the course of a conversation with the reporter some time before, had told him that life could be sustained by the daily taking of a preparation of ox blood no larger in amount than would fill a lady's thimble. It would appear, therefore, that food in highly concentrated forms could be given to Dr. Tanner daily in ways that would defy detection, and, though no one asserts that this is done, yet the fact that under present conditions of the watch it can be done has the inevitable effect of raising doubts and suspicions in the minds of those who observe the fasting doctor.

COMPLETING THE THIRTEENTH DAY.

At a quarter to 4 a. m. yesterday the great faster was resting on the left side in his hammock cot, at the middle of the south gallery, during the watches of Drs. R. E. Kunze and L. V. Wilder. Dr. Tanner's face was turned toward the half-raised window and he slept for awhile with a slight breeze fanning him in his slumbers. Dr. Kunze was drowsy and slept in his chair for a considerable time, during which his brother professional kept watch, until at last, overcome by fatigue, heat and drowsiness, Wilder leaned his head against an iron brace and he also paid a brief visit to dreamland, virtually leaving the fasting man under temporary charge of the Herald watchers. Exactly at seven minutes to five he got briskly out of bed and said in hearty tones, "Good morning!" seating himself upon a chair and stretching his feet over the gallery rail. Upon being asked by the physicians how he felt Tanner replied cheerfully, "Guess I rested tolerably well; my stomach's hot, I notice." He manifested strong symptoms of flatulency. In referring to an incident connected with the press, Dr. Tanner said: "Them reporters are sore because the Herald reporters are favored. They think we're favoring the Herald reporters and keeping news back from them. It's Herald enterprise; nothing more. They have the privilege of sending reporters just as the Herald does." At forty minutes after five Dr. Hoeber took the fasting man's pulse and found the pulsations equal to eighty. Five minutes later the body's temperature was tested by an English-made thermometer being placed in the mouth and an American-manufactured instrument of the same sort inserted in the arm-pit. The reading of the former was 97 1-2 degrees; of the latter 98 1-4. Upon the stroke of half-past six a. m. Dr Hoeber left, being relieved by Dr. Goodman, and at the same time Tanner washed his mouth again with water.

THE PUNISHMENT OF TANTALUS.

Just at this time a fresh-looking girl appeared at the back of one of the houses facing the gallery windows. She held up a loaf of bread and a mug of smoking coffee, evidently intended for Dr. Tanner's acceptance. He got up on his elbow, looked wistfully down at the proffered food and said, "Bedad, send it up here." At twenty-five minutes to seven he repeated the mouth-rinsing operation, using this time twelve ounces of water, which was diminished by three-quarters of a drachm. By Dr. Tanner's request one of the Herald watchers read for him the morning papers, after which the Doctor went to sleep on his back. Drs. Pierce, Griswold and Goodman mounted guard duty at 7 o'clock. Dr. Tanner remarked, when speaking of his former fast: "My own doctor could not feel my pulse for two weeks, yet I was able to be around. I do not get exhausted, but emaciated. Why, the thirty-eighth day of my last fast I walked nine miles." At half-past eight he had once more rinsed his mouth and five minutes thereafter got out of bed and dressed, observing, "My clothes are getting quite too large for me." When speaking of his present effort he said: "I have been for more than the last two years trying to correspond with Dr. Hammond upon this thing, but could never bring it to a focus till now." Touching the alleged partiality for him on the part of the medical profession he remarked: "Talk about the doctors being partial to me. Good Lord! those around me have not shown the slightest partiality."

At half-past nine a. m. there were in the gallery the dozing "faster," the watchers, G. L. Pierce, C. E. Griswold, Dr. Goodman and the representative of the Herald. Dr. Goodman, of the Bellevue committee, was relieved a few moments later by Dr. H. B. Kent. At twenty-four minutes past ten, after rinsing his mouth, Dr. Tanner walked down into the main hall. Scarcely had he been seated ere a young man named Fearn was introduced, and Dr. Tanner was so pleased to see him that, forgetting his usual custom, he shook his hand cordially and then listened to the communication he had brought from Brooklyn from Mollie Fancher, the fasting girl. She, after thanking the doctor for his championship of her cause against Dr. Hammond, sent her kind regards and best wishes for his success, not only for his, but for her own sake, as it would undoubtedly remove all idea of fraud in her case, as charged by Dr. Hammond. Dr. Tanner was allowed to keep the letter, and then, at the request of Dr. Kent, showed a number of certificates, dated Hampden, Geauga county, Ohio, in 1862, from town and county officials, physicians and citizens, recommending him highly as a man of probity and honor and a physician of skill and practice.

HIS WONDERFUL CONDITION.

Dr. Weitzel, requesting to feel Tanner's pulse, after a momentary hesitation was allowed to do so and found it at ninety-six. To a Herald reporter Dr. Weitzel said: "His breath is good and he is generally in good condition, the pulse is not failing, the mucous membrane is moist, and altogether his condition is remarkable. I have seen starvation in Ireland in 1847, and can state as the result of my research that, as far as the stomach is concerned, there is no difference between voluntary and involuntary starvation; the physiological result in both cases is the same. This temperature is one thing in favor of the success of this experiment up to its present point, by its influence in keeping the body warm. Further than this I can only say simply, 'Wonderful! Wonderful!'"

Rinsing his mouth out with eight ounces of water, he lay anxiously awaiting the noonday whistles from the factory engines in the neighborhood. Their shrill, ear-piercing din had scarce subsided ere he leaped up from his cot and asked, "What day is to-day?" "Saturday," simultaneously replied two or three around him. "And that's twelve o'clock, ain't it?" "Yes," was the answer. "Then I have begun the thirteenth day. To-morrow I'll either be insane, dead or I'll get up." A few minutes afterward he was calmly sleeping.

The water used by Dr. Tanner in every instance after a good rinsing of the mouth always displayed a syrupy consistency and little perceptable flakes of some white substance floated in it, so when the increase was sufficient to be marked the Herald watcher asked Dr. Weeks to explain the fact, which he did as follows: "The increase is undoubtedly saliva, and the flakes are epithelial mucus scales thrown off in rinsing, the loss of absorbed water being made up by these and the saliva, the result being the turbid liquid you see there."

John Kauthold, the barber who shaved Dr. Tanner, said he noticed a great difference in the face of the faster since the task commenced; the cheeks had become sunken and the beard had almost entirely stopped growing and had become wiry.

Drs. Gunn and Prescott then applied to his right arm, bared for the purpose, a sphygmograph or indicator of the variations of the pulse and succeeded in getting a faint chart. The ink used being faulty prevented a perfect test. The pulse itself was 98. The æsthesiometer, or pricking test, showed that his sense of feeling was normal, and the dynamometer that he was muscularly as strong yesterday as he was the day before.

DOES DR. TANNER USE OPIUM?

In the mail yesterday was a letter dated from Long Branch and signed "Physician," representing to the board of watchers that they, with all their vigilance, were being deceived, and affirming that there was some avenue, as yet undiscovered, by which nourishment was furnished Dr. Tanner. It was very easy, the writer said, for extract of beef mixed with flour enough to give it body, to be made into pills or pastiles and conveyed to him surreptitiously.

The communication was received with derision by all the physicians save the regulars, and they say that they cannot account for the phenomena exhibited in the person of Dr. Tanner except on such a hypothesis as this letter hinted at. Dr. Westcott said: "It has been in my mind and in the minds of other physicians that Dr. Tanner may have been postponing the inevitable result of this fast by the use of opium. I do not make the charge, mind you, for it is not a plausible proposition, though a possible one. Dr. Tanner has on two or three occasions presented the physical appearance of being under the influence of opium. The use of the drug would not totally invalidate the experiment of starvation he is trying, but by deadening the action of the system it would retard the disintegration of tissue, and thus by promoting sluggish action would prolong the time of the fast! I am loth to believe even in the possibility of this; but the contradiction to all physiological development which this case presents impresses the idea in the minds of many physicians, though they can find no proof on which to base the suspicion. I believe Dr. Tanner to be honest in his attempt to fast for forty days; but I do not see that he can possibly last more than five days longer at the outside, though he may be able to extend the time to eight days."

In the course of the evening a suggestion was made to Dr. Tanner, in which he readily acquiesced, and that was that to take away all suspicion of collusion on the part of the physicians and other attendants everything given to the doctor should be handed him by a Herald reporter. The Doctor seemed very pleased at this new idea and took everything in the shape of water, sponges, etc., from a Herald reporter's hands, the doctors in attendance having previously measured the water. While trying to sleep he was very much disturbed by heavy crashes of thunder.

S. Maurice Miller, without the faster's knowledge, on Friday evening took some of the water with which Tanner had rinsed his mouth and submitted it to microscopic investigation. The microscope, he says, revealed nothing indicative of his having used food.

THE NEUROLOGICAL SOCIETY'S POSITION.

Dr. Landon Carter Gray, acting president of the Neurological Society, writing on the position occupied by the Neurological Society with reference to Dr. Tanner's fasting experiment, says: "The Neurological Society is in no way concerned in this present undertaking of Dr. Tanner, has never had any part in it, and, so far as I am aware, will not take any share in it. Some time ago it was understood that Dr. Tanner was desirous of placing himself in the hands of a committee to be appointed by the Neurological Society, and the conditions of the experiment were to be so rigid as to preclude all doubt as to the result. The plan was abandoned because it was understood that Dr. Tanner objected to the conditions as being too strict. I afterward wrote him offering to call a special meeting and endeavor to have a committee appointed. In a courteous reply he informed me that his arrangements were made at Clarendon Hall, but he would be glad to have a committee of neurologists cooperate with the medical gentlemen who had him in charge. My reply was that members of our society could not co-operate with gentlemen who did not belong to the regular profession. Dr. Tanner is a man of sufficient intelligence to understand that in order to prove that he alone among the millions of countless ages can fast forty days he must subject himself to an examination as rigid and careful as human ingenuity can devise. Such a loose watch as has been maintained at Clarendon Hall will satisfy no one and conduces to nothing. Any person well versed in sleight of hand could feed himself or be fed with ease as the watch is now being conducted. I do not mean to express any opinion as to Dr. Tanner's uprightness, for that would be unwarrantable, but the gentleman must remember that, hard as it may seem, a necessary assumption at the outset of his self-imposed task is that he will cheat at every turn."

THE BUNKO SWINDLE.

The Confessions of an Operator—How Grant Was Followed Over the Country—A Perfect System.

[From the Philadelphia Times.]

One of the boldest and most successful of the fraternity, a handsome, well-educated man, was interrogated before leaving the Penitentiary recently concerning the devices by which the men of his class ascertained so minutely all the information, often marvelously accurate, which dumbfounds the victim and infallibly secures his confidence—the very point aimed at.

The sharper laughed and then said: "You haven't any idea of the perfect system we have to get all the points about a man. There are always three or four men to work a job of that kind. In every gang there is always a well-dressed, genteel, often handsome young fellow, some scapegrace son of a rich man, by whom he has been discarded. This fellow's part is to loaf around the hotels. As soon as a likely-looking man puts his name on the register one man—and that was generally my part of the affair—follows him around, tries to buzz the clerk and, failing in that, watches around the reading room or the corridor until the 'angel' is seen talking with somebody. Then one man watches his chance, when the country chap has gone, and, by an offer of hospitalities or some other bait, pumps the second man about the name, residence, habits, business and everything else about the other that he can find out. Often he is lucky enough to get into conversation himself with the intended dupe. At all events, whether he gets the points from the man direct or from some loose-tongued friend, he never utilizes it himself. He gives it second or third-handed, as it may be, to another man. This is the fellow who waylays Mr. Green in the street, grasps his hand, shakes it as though he was going to pull the arm out at its socket, and brazens him into acknowledging an acquaintance. The idea of a total stranger going up to a fellow and convincing him that he knew him for years is astonishing, and all this time the bunko man don't really know the countryman from Adam. It requires impudence and presumption to carry on the deceit, and it is these very elements which give the rogue the at times astonishing success he meets with."

THE PERFECT SYSTEM OF ROGUERY.

The great headquarters of the swindlers is in Chicago, but there are ramifications of the canker throughout the country. The grand army of skillful operators report to headquarters and receive all orders from there. The clique is powerful with financial backing derived from its numerous bold raids upon the victims. One detachment is on the wing following up any great event, such as a boat race, a great horse trot, a celebration, a convention or any other event calling together a large body of men, among whom there are prospective victims.

Gen. Grant's return trip across the continent was a God-send for the sharpers. The gang started with the great traveler at San Francisco and was in his wake all over the country. This, according to detectives, accounted for the increased number of "bunko" plunderings here in December last while the ex-President was in the city. One of the anticipated victims, a Delaware county farmer, whom the sharpers had had in tow for several hours, was wrested from them by detectives in a Ninth street saloon just as he was about to sit down with a new-found friend who had drawn a lottery prize and wanted the countryman to see how much the prize was. Lucky it was for the rustic that the detectives saw who his companions were and rescued him from them, as otherwise he would have been skinned out of his last cent.

One of the rascals who is now in prison, boasting about the way in which the farmer had been drawn on, said: "He wanted to be introduced to Gen. Grant at the Continental Hotel. One of the boys fixed himself up in bang-up style and took the old man up stairs, gave him the desired introduction, making him believe that he was an old friend of the General's. The countryman was so struck by this that he would have done anything for his young friend. It was a shame that those detectives came down on the party. They had the old man soaped up so that they could have made a good thing out of him if they had had a fair show at him."

GULLS AT THE SEASIDE.

Although the cities afford lots of victims from the rural regions, it is at the seaside that the bunko or monte men flourish in full feather and make their greatest achievements. They pursue there the same means to ascertain the proposed victim's predilections. If he drinks, the engaging young man, who knows the whole family of Snookses clear back to the forty-second cousins, is at his elbow to treat him; if he has a fancy for a bit of blooded horse-flesh, his young friend's spanking team is at his service; if he wants to get into society, his friend knows lots of nice girls. Finally, after having ascertained from his rural friend everything about himself worth knowing, or, in default of that, from some intimate friend, the "steerer" drops his man and, having posted No. 2, that personage takes up the thread and endeavors to inveigle the person singled out into some bunko den. At every seaside resort are two or three of these places, and where the authorities are approachable they are "fixed" not to molest the swindlers unless the latter should become too bold.

PARIS PREPARING FOR THE FETE.

A Magnificent Entertainment—Great Influx of Visitors—Republican Enthusiasm.

[By Cable to the New York Tribune.]

PARIS, Saturday, July 10, 1880.—The Municipality of Paris entertains next week on a scale of unparalleled magnificence. Delegates will be sent by every provincial town to witness the military ceremonies at Longchamps. An entertainment will be given in the palace of the Tribunal of Commerce, which shows that those engaged in trade are well affected toward the Republic.

The popular enthusiasm is tremendous as the national fete approaches, and money flows from the working classes into the district mayoralties to cover the expenses each arrondissement incurs for its local festivity. High society is emigrating en masse to the country to spare itself the mortification of witnessing the splendid evidence of the Republican victories which the fete will present. The influx of provincial and foreign visitors is setting in, and the hotel accommodations are miserably insufficient, while the police restrictions can not be relaxed in consequence of Socialistic agitations in Russia and Germany.

General Pitt, President Grevy's secretary, has received 70,000 applications for seats at Longchamps, with 36,000 of which compliance is impossible. Sixty boys in every Parisian State School have been invited to witness the distribution of regimental flags, at which the great bodies of the State and the Diplomatic Corps will be spectators. President Grevy is to address the Army. No oath is to be imposed, as modern liberalism adopts the "swear not at all" of the Gospel.

The veterans of 1848 will have a tribune set apart to them in recognition of the debt the Third Republic owes them. Military bands everywhere have been placed at the disposal of the municipal authorities. Shopkeepers appear only to sell tri-colored tickets, flags, ribbons, cockades, statues of the Republic, and Turkish lanterns. Preparations are making to throw across the streets, at the fifth story altitude, a wire network supporting vegetation, flowers, lanterns, etc. Unluckily rain is threatened.

HOW SHE GOT HIM.

Noah's Vain Attempts to Escape the Widow's Matrimonial Snares.

[From the Detroit Free Press.]

A Detroit Justice of the Peace was the other day interviewed by a woman about forty-five years of age, who announced that she would be married on a certain night at her farm-house, and His Honor had been selected to come out and perform the ceremony. She asked how much the fee was, and paid it and took a receipt. Business concluded, she sat down, filled a short clay pipe with tobacco and indulged in a smoke.

"You won't flunk out on this?" she said, as she rose to go, after exhausting the contents of her pipe.

"Oh, no; I'll be there, sure."

"So'll I, and so'll he, or I'll know the reason why! He's been clawing off a little lately, but I'll make him toe the mark, see if I don't."

"I hope nothing unpleasant will occur," observed the Court.

"I hope so, too, but I'm going to be prepared for a scrimmage just the same. You always back the weaker sex, don't you?"

"Y-yes," softly replied the Justice.

"So do I, and I guess we'll be all right. Don't forget the date."

His Honor went out last night prepared to perform the ceremony with promptness and good-will. He found about a dozen persons assembled at the house, and the woman looked gorgeous under the light of three kerosene lamps. She had her pipe going, and her face was covered with a bland smile as she shook hands and said:

"Take a cheer. The old man isn't here yet, but I'll send for him." Then, turning to a boy in the room, she continued:

"Samuel, go and tell the old man it's time to come and be spliced."

"Samuel departed on his errand, and after the lapse of ten minutes he returned and responded:

"The old man is over to Martin's, He's got his boots off and is whittling out a wooden cat, and I don't believe he cares two cents about being married to you or anybody else."

The widow refilled her pipe, took several strong whiffs, and then said to a long-legged farmer who seemed hungry for the bridal feast:

"Moses, you go over and tell Noah I want him!"

Moses departed. He was absent ten minutes, and then lounged in and said:

"Says he is quite comfortable where he is. Guess he isn't on the marry very much."

"Judge," began the woman, as she looked around for her bonnet, "you play a game of fox-and-geese with Moses while I go over and see about this thing. There's going to be a marriage here to-night, and I'll bet a new hoss-rake on it!"

She was absent about twenty minutes, and then returned in company with Noah. He had neither coat nor hat on, and only one boot, and both were panting for breath.

"G-go ahead, Judge!" she gasped, as she hauled the groom into the center of the room. "He heard me coming and got out and run four times around the orchard, but here he is."

"Do you want to marry this woman?" asked the official, as he gave Noah a looking over.

"Yaas," was the blunt reply.

"Then why did you run away?"

"'Spose I'm going to give right in the first thing?" demanded the indignant Noah. "I'll go and fix up and come back."

"No, darling; no you won't, my pet amethyst!" chuckled the widow. "We'll be married right here and now, boots or no boots!"

She crowded him against the table. Moses stood behind the pair to render any needed aid, and the knot was soon tied. As soon as the ceremony was over Noah skipped out of the back door, but no one pursued. The widow called the guests to supper and remarked:

"Sit right down and don't worry about the groom. I've been nine years working him up to this, but he'll be a little bashful for a few weeks to come. Have some of this roast pig, Mr. Court?"

FATHER OF FORTY-ONE CHILDREN

Seventeen of One Wife, Fifteen by Another and Nine by a Third.

John Hepner, of Reading, Penn., was born in Germany in 1815. In 1840 he married. His wife lived eight years and bore him seventeen children. She presented him with twins in the first year of their marriage. The next year another pair of twins was born. Every year for four years thereafter Mrs. Hepner gave birth to triplets. The seventh year was signalized by the birth of only one child to the couple. Mr. Hepner's seventeen children, the oldest only seven years of age, were taken in charge three months after Mrs. Hepner's death by a young German lady, who became the second Mrs. Hepner. The first Mrs. Hepner died in February, 1848. In February, 1849, her successor presented Mr. Hepner with a boy. On Christmas day of the same year the nineteenth child was added to the Hepner flock. Once a year for five years afterward the family was increased by twins, and for three years after that one child was born to Mr. Hepner. The last three were born in this country, Mr. Hopner having emigrated from Germany in 1854. In 1857 his wife died, having been married nine years. Of the thirty-two children that had been born to Hepner, twelve had died. In 1858 he married a widow with one child. The third wife bore him nine children in ten years by single births. Mr. Hepner and his last wife are still living. None of the first set of seventeen children survive. Two of the second wife's fifteen are alive and three of the third wife's nine. With the step-child that the last marriage added to the list, forty-two children have called John Hepner father.

Dr. Mary Walker.

[Washington Cor. of the Baltimore Sun.]

Dr. Mary Walker called on Assistant Secretary French, who is acting Secretary of the Treasury during the absence of Mr. Sherman. Dr. Mary has for perhaps a half dozen years claimed that she was entitled to an appointment in the Treasury, and she has for a long time been in the habit of making frequent calls at the department, asking for her commission and professing her instant readiness to be put to work. To-day she importuned Mr. French for some time for her commission. Secretary Sherman, she said, was too hard-hearted to listen to reason or eloquence, but now that he was absent, if Mr. French would give her her commission he would immortalize himself. Judge French said he would be very happy to oblige her, but he was fearful he would have to give up all hopes of immortality if it could only be attained in manner she suggested. The female employes of the department have been very much exercised at Dr. Mary's attempts to get among them, and they have informally resolved that if she ever is put to work she must throw away her man clothes and put on the habiliments of her own sex.

It Talked Through the Telephone.

[From the Macon (Ga.) Telegraph.]

During the slight rain on Monday about noon, and while the air was heavily charged with electricity, the lightning struck one of the telephone wires, which passes over Mr. Lowenthal's house, close by the Presbyterian church, to the residence of Capt. W. W. Carnes, on New street. The family of Mr. Lowenthal were prostrated by the shock, which was felt all over the city at the telephone stations. The display of electric flames was very great at the Western Union Telegraph office, the operators were being from the room.

SUMMER NIGHTS.

Entranced by light and odor,
The world in slumber lies;
Each leaflet droops in languor,
No bird through ether flies.

Slow sinking toward the western heav'n,
The weary stars incline,
While in my heart, new risen,
Still fairer planets shine.

My daily round of duty,
Neglected ne'er hath been—
But, ah! what bliss, what beauty
Dwell in night's peace serene.

M. J. SAFFORD.

PRETTY THINGS FOR PRETTY WOMEN.

Fresh and Ingenious Devices Wherewith the Better Half of Creation Can Make Themselves as Fine as the Lilies of the Valley.

[From the New York Evening Post.]

Lace fraises and jabots are extremely popular for dressing the neck, and are worn almost to the exclusion of collars.

Japanese and Chinese designs are the new figures in cotton Sicilienne, a soft, glossy fabric much resembling silk.

Greek bands are worn in the hair, Grecian aprons are fashionable, and the Grecian style of hair-dressing is adopted by the very few to whom it is becoming.

Fine linen handkerchiefs are made with colored borders of washing silk to match the dress, the more expensive ones having frills of India muslin embroidered on the edges with colored silk floss.

Shawl costumes still grow in popularity. They are usually made from old-fashioned China crape or Paisley shawls. If a whole suit is desired India cashmere, the color of the center, is combined with it, or, if preferred, the shawl simply forms the basque and overdress, and is draped over a velvet underskirt.

The newest card-cases are in mother-of-pearl, with rounded corners, and flowers and monograms in incrustations and gilt. Very handsome pearl brooches and ear-rings carved in cameo heads, with settings of fine gold, and pearl-handled fans with antique mountings of imitation gems are also exhibited.

Large silver buttons with Japanese figures carved on them, cup-shaped gilt buttons, set with bronze, fancy buttons of Rhine pebble, cut jet buttons specked with white polka dots, and enameled mother-of-pearl buttons, shaped and tinted to resemble heartsease, pink, snowdrops, daisies, etc., are among the novel styles.

Shirred sleeves are again fashionable for summer dresses; others are made with puffs at the shoulder and the old-fashioned deep ruffle at the elbow. Another style has the sleeves slashed in several places from the shoulder to the elbow, and V-shaped puffs of silk, satin or velvet are inserted. No style can take the place, however, of the graceful coat-sleeve so long worn.

Belts of silk or satin in the Oriental designs are more fashionable this summer than those of leather or velvet. These belts are fastened with agraffes of oxidized silver or jeweled enamel in the mediæval style. Attached to these belts are small, flat bags of like material, with plain satin puffings around the sides, and in the center of a rosette of lace is placed a satin bow, a tiny bunch of flowers, or a small ornament of silver or jeweled enamel.

Worth is using a great deal of bengaline in his latest productions. The material is softer and finer than sicilienne, and drapes more gracefully. He frequently chooses the brightest colors when using this fabric, combining them with the rich, small-patterned black satin brocade, which he faces with the bengaline. He also uses for trimming purposes some very elegant gimps and cord of Chinese design. Hungarian spikes, girdles and pendants, amber-beaded and heavily-jetted passementeries, in fern and oak-leaf patterns, are seen upon many of his richest promenade and reception-dresses.

The bandanna handkerchief suits make very pretty and showy costumes, and promise to be very popular if they do not become too common. They are particularly becoming to brunettes. Brightly-hued fabrics are worn this season at the watering places. Great care needs to be taken in the midst of so much wealth of color and style to select materials and patterns which shall not only please the eye of the purchaser but shall suit the individual face and figure. Very few women in our own country, where the taste is infinitely better than in England and Germany, have the same gift of happy selection that the Parisians so intuitively possess.

Cherry, apple and peach blossoms, often in small sprays, boughs of hawthorn, reeds, ragged-sailors, cat tails, small sunflowers, chrysanthemums, hare bells, four-o'clocks and seaweed, together with strange-looking insects, are seen upon many of the Paris bonnets. Near the brim of a Japanese straw hat of eccentric shape is placed a cluster of blackberries and leaves, underneath which small bows of cardinal satin ribbon faced with old gold are looped. Over this cluster falls an almost invisible crown of delicate white lace, in the exact pattern of a spider's web. A yellow-girdled spider reposes near the center of the web, and, beside him, entangled in the silken meshes, lies his victim, a genuine fly, which had apparently "walked into the parlor" of his spidership and met his doom.

Condition of the Lick Estate.

[From the San Francisco Call.]

In order to answer the questions of numerous inquirers as to the condition of the Lick estate, and the number and kind of bequests made by Mr. Lick, we have taken some pains to obtain the information, which we herewith communicate to our readers. The title to the estate is perfect, and there is no litigation pending against it. All contests in relation to it have been settled, and the trustees are waiting for the property to advance in value before it is disposed of in the manner intended by the devisor. The bequests of the Lick will are as follows: To the Old Ladies' Home, $100,000; for a monument in Golden Gate Park to Francis Scott Key, (author of the "Star Spangled Banner,") $60,000; for observatory and telescope, $700,000; for a Mechanical School of Arts, $540,000; for public baths, $150,000; for statuary for City Hall, $100,000; for Protestant Orphan Asylum, $25,000; for Ladies' Relief Society, $25,000; for San Jose Asylum, to be located by the city of San Jose, $25,000. John Lick, son of James Lick, gets $150,000 by the last deed of trust. He also gets $385,000 by terms of compromise. The Lick will makes the Pioneer Society and the Academy of Sciences the residuary legatees of the estate. If the bequests had been paid soon after Mr. Lick's death, both these would have realized a handsome amount. It is doubted now whether anything will be coming to them after the bequests are all paid.

A Child's Marvelous Escape.

[From the Kansas City Times.]

Recently Mrs. Somornberg, an emigrant woman with a number of children, went out on the Fort Scott train. When out some distance she fell asleep with a child about two years old in her arms. When she awoke the child was gone, and, although search was made, it could be found nowhere. On arriving at one of the stations, the conductor of the train received a dispatch that a child had been picked up about twenty miles from that point, by the construction train, lying at the side of the track unhurt, but crying lustily for help. It turned out to be the child of Mrs. Somornberg, and was forwarded to her by the next train. It is supposed it crawled from it's mothers arms and fell out of the window with the train spinning along at the rate of twenty-five miles an hour.

A Half Mile to Wagon in 1:05 1-2.

[From the Turf, Field and Farm.]

On Saturday of last week Edwin Forrest was driven by Mr. Robert Bonner, to wagon, without toeweights, wagon and driver weighing over 275 pounds, on the three-quarter track at the farm near Tarrytown, a mile in 2:17 1-4. The first half was an easy jog. The last half was earnest work. It was done in 1:05 1-2. Mr. Bonner authorizes us to say that he will pay $25,000 for a horse which can pull wagon and driver, weighing 275 pounds, on his track a half mile in 1:05 1-2. He adds that if the horse goes to half-mile pole in the specified time, he may take half a day, or half a week, to finish the mile. He paid $16,000 for Edwin Forrest. Hopeful is rated a great half-mile horse, and St. Julien is credited with the speed of the hurricane. If the owner of either is anxious to sell, here is his chance.

THE CHAMPION MAIL CARRIER.

A Man Who Has Ridden 328,583 Miles During the Last Twenty-five Years.

[From the Rockingham (Va.) Register.]

Every day, as regular as the hour comes around, any person who may take the trouble can see John W. Leedy, the veteran mail carrier of the world, arrive in Harrisonburg on his return from Port Republic, in this county, with the mail. To look at him one would not suppose that he was capable of any great endurance, but when you look up his "record" you will find that he has gone through with what would kill most men. He has been carrying the United States mail for the past twenty-five years, and during that time he has ridden the enormous aggregate of 328,583 miles, or an average of about forty miles a day for six days of each week for the whole period. If he had gone in a straight line he would have ridden around the world about thirteen times. He was born in Charleston, Jefferson county (now West Virginia), and was raised there and came to Rockingham during the John Brown raids prior to the war, and has been here ever since. He is only forty-seven years of age, and bids fair to put in another twenty-five years of service. If he had been paid for every mile he has ridden the price usually charged for passengers on the railroad, four cents per mile, he would have made the handsome sum, in round numbers of $13.000. Congress should give him a pension and put him on the retired list.

A FOOLISH FEAT.

An Attempt to Swim Under Water Ends in Death.

[From the Atlantic City Review.]

An Italian, who professed to be one of the greatest swimmers in the world, appeared in Hammonton, this county, a few days ago, and boasted considerably. He seemed to think nothing of a mile or two of water, and said he had often swam for hours at a time before touching terra firma. He was teased by some of the young men of the place, who told him they doubted if he could swim across the little lake at Hammonton. The son of Italy became very indignant at such a suggestion, and asserted that he could swim from one side to the other under water. He was laughed at for his boast and his indignation became greater than ever. He would show them what he could do, he said. If they would be at the lake that night they would see that he would make good his boast. Accordingly a large number of persons assembled on Thursday evening to witness the feat. The man prepared for his swim and dived in. He did not reappear, as was expected, and it was thought by some that he was really accomplishing the feat. Some time passed and the watchers on the opposite shore announced that he had not come up and it became apparent that the swimmer had "sunk to rise no more." An inquest upon the body of the foolish man will be held.

Venie Clancy's Marriage.

The Pittsburg Post has the following to say regarding the recent marriage of Miss Venie Clancy, the well-known actress and a popular favorite in this city:

Pretty Venie Clancy is married. Everybody in Pittsburg remembers her, for she has been here time and again with various theatrical companies. She last appeared with the Weathersby Frolicues at the Opera-house in the early part of the winter. Venie is almost a Pittsburger. Her father, Charles R. Gardner, for many years kept a shoe store on Fifth avenue, about where the Lyceum stands now. He afterward was the manager and proprietor of Gardner's Theater, in which place he lost considerable money. Then he got into financial troubles and the Sheriff sold him out, and he went to various Eastern and Western cities, where he worked as a dramatic agent. He lived here for a number of years, and is well remembered by many. Venie grew up here, and when she went on the stage she took her mother's name of Clancy. She married in Montreal the other day—married a young Frenchman named Rene Deschaups, who is a youth gifted by fortune with a rich father. The couple are now up at a place on Lake Champlain. Venie's sister Laura is one of Mary Anderson's company.

A Lost Race for a Life.

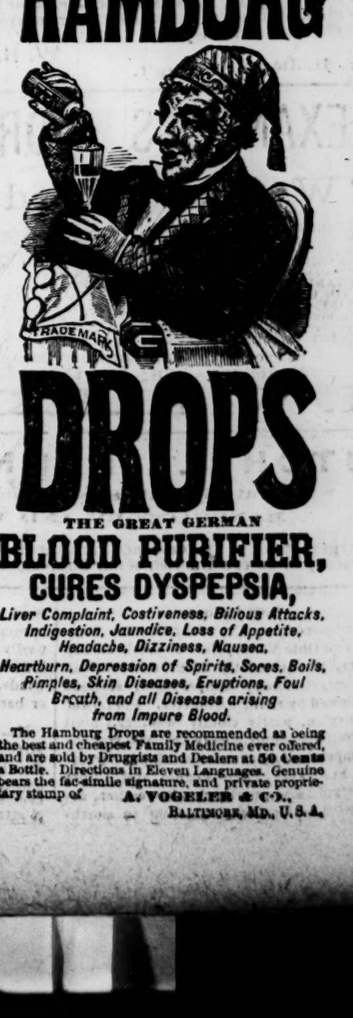

[From the Philadelphia Times.]

About half-past eight o'clock on Thursday, midway between the Schuylkill and Ridge avenue, a man was seen running on the track about 200 feet ahead of a New York train. A freight train was passing on an adjoining track and the opposite siding was filled with cars. It was possible for the man to have escaped by stepping between these cars. As the last car of the freight train passed he was struck by the New York train and thrown between the two tracks. Yesterday an inquest was held and a verdict of accidental death returned.

A Wild Woman.

[From the Barbour County (Kansas) Index.]

The report comes from the Indian Territory that a wild woman is living along the Moccasin River. Her tracks have been found in the sand along the shore. Sometimes she wears shoes, and at other times she goes in her bare feet. Parties have attempted to track her to her hiding place, but she always succeeds in eluding them. If the reports be true, an effort should be made to reclaim her, as she probably has friends who are mourning her as among the dead.

RIVER NEWS.

THE Keokuk packet for the day is the Rob Roy, Captain Asbury.

THE favorite Fannie Tatum leaves for Kansas City to-morrow evening.

THE John A. Scudder is loading to leave to-morrow evening for New Orleans.

THE J. B. M. Kehlor is loading for New Orleans and will leave to-morrow evening.

CAPT. ISHERWOOD will back out the Diamond Joe for St. Paul to-morrow evening.

THE Alf. Stevens left last evening for Dyersburg, on the Forked Deer, with 100 tons at 25c per 100.

IRWIN DUGAN was much refreshed by his sojourn at Hot Springs. He goes home to Louisville to-day.

THE Dora left yesterday with a good trip; she will leave again to-morrow evening for Clarksville and way points.

ISAAC P. BAKER arrived from Cape May where he passed three weeks. He will now proceed to regulate mail matters on the river hence to St. Paul.

THE time table of the K. N. Line fast mail time to St. Paul is published. The boats, leaving here daily at 12 m., reach St. Paul and all way points with satisfactory speed.

PERRY THARP has gone back to Cincinnati with the contract to build the new Alton packet American Eagle. Dimensions: Length, 220 feet; beam, 31 feet; depth of hold, 5 feet; cylinders, 20 inches in diameter, 6 1-2 feet stroke.

THE Alex. Mitchell, mail line packet, left at noon to-day for St. Paul, full of passengers. These are the days for tourists. James A. Lyon, 112 North Fourth street is very busy handing out tickets for this trip to St. Paul and return.

CAPT. HENRY A. JOHNSON and W. G. McCoy contracted with James Mack on Saturday for a wharfboat 310 feet long, 90 feet wide, and 8 feet depth of hold, to cost about $30,000. The length is the same as that used by the Big Sandy and Pomeroy steamers.

JOE CARPENTER left last evening for Cincinnati. He as clerk and Poney Williams as master will be associated with another party who has purchased a 500-ton sternwheel steamer for the St. Louis and Warsaw trade. Assurances are given that Joe has struck "ile" this time.

IT can't be denied that Pittsburg towboats are splendid river craft. The Iron Age left Sulphur Springs for the Ohio on Sunday last at 4 a. m., with six barges, containing 2,500 tons of ore, and arrived at Cairo the same night at 8 o'clock. The distance is 170 miles, rate per hour 10.62 miles.

JIM ELLIOTT of Pittsburg laid out the towboat which Barmore is building for Huse, Loomis & Co., of St. Louis. Barmore wants lots more towboats to build, and will therefore make this one equal to any ever turned out from Pittsburg. This looks bad for Pittsburg. What is to become of her boat yards if her men of talent instruct down the river builders how to do it?

THE Mary Morton made the round trip to St. Paul and return, 1,600 miles, in eight days. Good enough. Rapid transit. She left last evening again, full of passengers, including Mrs. Nave and daughter, Mrs. Fink and family, Mrs. Baker, S. H. Laflin, Jr., Dr. Hansen and family, Mrs. Erskine, Mrs. McClatcher and son, Miss Hickman, Dr. Caldwell, Mr. Miller, Mrs. Dolbe, Mr. Tigou and family, Miss Minnie Mason, etc. Leaves St. Louis again Wednesday, the 21st inst.

MR. CANDLER, pilot, says that the steamer Pauline, a raft pusher, will be found a worthy competitor of the Bald Eagle in speed if they should go up the river together. The latter is one of Davidson's fast St. Paul line, and Geo. Wolfl considers her by far the fastest sternwheeler in these parts. However, Candler bets on the Pauline, which he says has cylinders of 10 inches diameter, 7 1-2 feet stroke. We thought that 6 feet was the stroke, but if Candler is correct in his statement it is an extraordinary arrangement. Wolff says such pistons must look like lamp posts.

PITTSBURG, 11: The John Porter laid up at Davis Island Dam, and the crew arrived home. Boats in port; Iron Duke, Scotia, C. W. Batchelor, J. M. C. Creighton, Henry T. Dexter, Clipper, Barnard, Fearless, George Roberts, Coal City, James Gilmore, Simpson Horner, Panther, Abe Hayes, Joseph Nixon, Hornet N. 2, Grand Lake, W. C. Guffey, Ark, Tom Dodsworth, Josh Cook, Tom Rees No. 2, Samuel Clark, Baltic, Ironsides, Jim Brown, Dexter, Alice Brown, Alex. Swift, Fred. Wilson No. 2, Enterprise, Dick Fulton, Samuel Brawn, Charles Brown, Harry Brown, Onward, Reindeer, S. Mercer, George Lysle, Park, Painter No. 2. Vigilant, Boaz, Nellie Walton, Joseph Walton, Diamond.

CAPT. JNO. N. BOFINGER says that he is not superstitious, but he knows that a fatality has attached itself to all steamboats whose names commenced with "M." Says he: "You can look over the long list of Missouri, Mississippi, Mary, Michigan, Marie, Monarch, Mediator, etc., and you will find that they met the fate of one as above indicated. Over thirty years ago Capt. John Pierce built the Metamora. The custom had always been to christen the boat when launched, and before this occurred I tried my best to persuade the Captain to name his boat some other name, and gave him my reasons, going over a large number of boats whose name commenced with the letter M. He laughed at what he called a superstitious notion of mine, and called his boat the Metamora. She was a great success, but sank above Choctaw Island while she was in prime. Capt. Charley Davis about the same time built a splendid Cincinnati and New Orleans boat, in which Capt. Harry Jones had an interest. This would be sufficient to the knowing ones that she was 'a good one.' Davis, like his old partner, Pierce, would not listen to my idea, launched, and christened her the Midas. She sank in the bend above island 16. Capt. Joe Brown built the Mayflower some time during the '50's. Long before she was launched I tried to talk him out of calling the boat by that name—no use. She was burned at Memphis. Our old townsman, Norman Cutter, Esq., who in 1850 owned the Josiah Lawrence and Atlantic, bought a hull that had been built at Hannibal. Her cabin and machinery were put on at St. Louis, where she was finished, and was then (1852) the finest boat in the St. Louis and New Orleans trade. It was the owner's intention that I should have taken charge of the Charles Belcher, which was the name that Mr. Cutter gave her about a month before the Belcher was ready to start on her first trip. I accidentally found out from Emerson, who had built the hull, that she had been launched and christened Magnolia. That was enough for me. Nothing could have induced me to have taken charge of the Belcher. She was burnt on her sixth trip at New Orleans. I could name hundreds of instances to show the fatality that seems to shroud the steamboats whose names commenced with the letter M, but will content myself by giving one more instance. I was in New Orleans in 1875, where I met Capt. Frank Hicks and his clerk, Mr. Alf. Grissom, who were at that time building a hull at Metropolis, Ill. They talked of calling their boat the Mary Bell. I did my level best to persuade them not to call her that name or any name that commenced with M; gave them my reasons and recited many instances of losses, etc., all to no good; the boat was called Mary Bell, made but a few trips and burnt with a full load at Vicksburg. I do not pretend to give any reason why a steamboat's name commencing with the letter M should be any more unlucky than one commencing with any other letter, but the fact still remains, superstition or not."

A Compliment for "Bob Ingersoll."

[From the Whitehall Review, July 1.]

The infidel Colonel of Volunteers named Robert Ingersoll is making the warm weather in New York much warmer by delivering a series of Sunday evening lectures at a theater in which religion is ridiculed and attacked with scarcely any limit of epithet and imagery. The gallant Colonel boasts that he has defied the Almighty for years and has never been harmed by him. This reminds me of the reply made at the Savage Club by an ex-clergyman named Barton to poor Tom Robertson, who was indulging in a somewhat similar style of idle talk. "You forget, Tom," said Barton, "that the Almighty is capable of infinite contempt as well as of infinite justice."

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

State of Missouri, City of St. Louis, ss.
In the Probate Court for the City of St. Louis, June Term, 1880.
Saturday, June 12th, A. D. 1880.
Estate of George Jones.

Now, at this day, comes William L. Murfree, Jr., administrator of the estate of George Jones, deceased, and presents to the court his petition praying for an order for the sale of so much of the real estate of said deceased as will pay and satisfy the remaining debts due by said estate, and yet unpaid for want of sufficient assets, accompanied by the accounts, lists and inventories required by law in such case, on examination whereof it is ordered that all persons interested in the estate of said deceased be notified that application, as aforesaid, has been made, and that unless the contrary be shown on or before the first day of the next term of this court, to be begun and held at the city of St. Louis, within and for the city of St. Louis, on the second Monday of September next, an order will be made for the sale of the whole or so much of the real estate of said deceased as will be sufficient for the payment of said debts; and it is further ordered that a copy hereof be published in some newspaper printed in the city of St. Louis aforesaid, for four weeks before the next term of this court.

A true copy from the record.

Witness my hand and the seal of the Probate Court of the City of St. Louis hereto affixed, this 21st day of June, 1880.

{SEAL} W. E. WAGNER, Clerk. 61N

JAY L. TORREY, Attorney.

SURVIVING PARTNER'S NOTICE.—Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, surviving partner of the late copartnership of Bury & Reef, which was composed of Caleb Bury and the undersigned, has given bond and been authorized by the Probate Court in and for the City of St. Louis, Missouri, to settle up said partnership estate.

All persons having claims against said estate are required to exhibit the same to the undersigned for allowance within one year, or they may be precluded from any benefit of said estate, and if such claims be not exhibited within two years from the date of this publication they will be forever barred.

AMUSEMENTS THIS EVENING.

UHRIG'S CAVE—Pinafore.
ALHAMBRA—Variety Performance.

NODAWAY is for Crittenden.

RAY COUNTY is for Crittenden.

MILLER instructs for Crittenden.

GRUNDY COUNTY has elected Crittenden delegates.

PETTIS COUNTY (Sedalia) has instructed for Crittenden.

LAFAYETTE COUNTY—rebel to the core—went for Crittenden yesterday.

THE solar wave has struck St. Louis, and it is almost as hot here as it is in Chicago.

COOPER, strongly Confederate, sends a solid Crittenden delegation to Jefferson City.

THE majority of the delegates from Buchanan (St. Joseph) are for Col. Crittenden.

JERRY FRUIN would make an ablebodied and able delegate to the State convention from the Seventeenth Ward.

ST. CLAIR COUNTY Democrats are largely Southern in feeling and sympathy. Still Col. Crittenden carried the county.

WEB. M. SAMUEL, T. F. Hayden and John H. Maxon are all "good" men. To encourage the participation of "good" men in politics, we hope they will be elected without opposition in the Eighteenth Ward.

WEB. M. SAMUEL would make another excellent delegate to the State Convention. Mr. Samuel during the war was a strong sympathizer with the South, but he is a Democrat of sense and character with whom the war is really over, and for whom everybody can vote with perfect safety.

DR. TANNER, the champion starver, still mystifies the medical profession by refusing to peg out or go insane. At last accounts he was considerably worsted but still lively and confident of pulling through his forty days' fast. At 1 p. m. to-day he entered upon the sixteenth day of his abstinence from food.

THE Washington Post makes a pathetic appeal to Windom not to rest upon his exodus laurels, but to come to the National Capital and get up an emigration movement among the negroes who are stealing, starving, sickening and dying in the District. The appeal is one which should touch the Presidential starter from Minnesota.

THE nomination of Conover as the Republican candidate for Governor of Florida has created a big disgust among the party leaders, and all hope for carrying the State for Garfield has been abandoned. There is not the shadow of a chance for Republican success in another Southern State, and the "solid South" is one of the fixed political conditions of the country, for the present at least.

S. W. SWINEY was a clerk in the Pension Office at $900 a year and was discharged, as he asserts, for refusing to pay a political assessment. Mr. Schurz denies this and declares that Swiney was discharged for indolence. Swiney comes back at the Secretary with some proofs that seem to sustain his side of the case, and to show that any government employe who refuses to plank down his tribute to the campaign fund is lost. It may be some consolation to know that the victim of Mr. Schurz's wrath is not to be obscured. Swiney announces his purpose to return to his home in Monroe county, Missouri, and run for the Legislature.

GEN. HANCOCK may have speculated in oil, conspired with rebels, or even drunk a glass of hard cider occasionally; but he has never been accused of burning Bibles and hymn-books. The Bourbon (Ky.) Gazette charges that in 1862, at Cotletts-burg, Garfield, while Colonel of the Forty-second Ohio regiment, sanctioned the burning of the Bible and hymn-books found in the Southern Methodist Church. So far the charge has neither been denied nor disproved.

TO-MORROW will be a great day in Paris. It is the ninetieth anniversary of the taking of the Bastile, and the national fete will be the most brilliant and pompous the French capital has seen since the days of Napoleon the First. The city has been crowded for a week and the hotels are totally inadequate to hold the throngs of visitors who are coming in from the provincial cities and rural towns. The enthusiasm of the populace is described to be unbounded, while the aristocracy are showing their contempt by moving out of town en masse. The Bonapartist journals exhibit a marked disdain for the joy of the Republicans and exhort the Royalists not to illuminate their houses nor display flags on the occasion. The preparations have been most elaborate, and the fireworks, the illuminating gas and the other festive splendors will be the most gorgeous ever witnessed in the gay metropolis.

PRACTICALLY SETTLED.

If there ever was any doubt about the nomination for Governor it is removed by the result of the election of delegates during the last few days. If there ever was any doubt about the good sense and patriotism of the Confederate element in this State, it is removed by the action of such counties as Lafayette, Cooper, St. Clair, Miller and Ray, which, though entirely controlled by the Confederate element, have all solidly declared themselves in favor of Col. Crittenden.

Precisely as we predicted a few days ago, Col. Crittenden will not only be nominated, but he will be nominated by the votes of sensible, patriotic ex-Confederates, who have sagacity enough to know what the best interests of the Democratic party demand just now.

A correspondent of the Republican from Jefferson City states that of the 209 delegates so far elected Col. Crittenden has only 79. This is a grand mistake. The large majority of the delegates so far chosen are uninstructed, but it is well known that many of these uninstructed delegates who are claimed for others are really for Col. Crittenden.

There is, in our belief, not the slightest doubt about Col. Crittenden's nomination by a very large majority. All efforts to the contrary seem to us utterly idle and a mere waste of energy.

ORANGE AND GREEN.

Many a loyal Protestant throat in Ireland and the Colonies, yesterday, quaffed the good old toast, "The glorious, pious and immortal memory of William of Orange," and felt as they did so that they were solemnizing a rite rather than asserting a principle. Upon every 12th of July since James II. saw his forces routed at the Boyne water the anniversary has been turned into an occasion for mob law and faction fighting wherever the Celt has made a home. It would seem that there was very little left of the Stuart cause in the nineteenth century, and yet the Irish have gone on fighting for it and against it for full a century after the young pretender was gathered to his ancestors. They have transplanted the feud to other lands and it has flourished vigorously. The city of New York a few years ago was made the battle-ground of the two factions, and Canada, up to the present year, has been a debatable land on this anniversary. The parties know each other so well that they are able to exercise a peculiar ingenuity in saying and doing those things most insulting to their adversaries. They have displayed a talent for insult and obloquy certainly worthy of a better cause. Yesterday, however, gave promise of better things. There was not an Orange disturbance anywhere, and the news from Canada and from Ireland itself is of a most pacific nature. It would seem that the orange and the green were going to unite at last and the dream of every Irish statesman be fulfilled. Protestant ascendancy will give way in the green isle to Irish ascendancy, and when that day comes there are good times in store for Innisfail.

EVEN the sharpest burglars overreach themselves at times as well as people in more prosaic professions. This is an aphorism for which there is no extra charge, as it goes to point the moral and adorn the tale of a young counterfeit detector who has just reached St. Louis. One Mr. Ronaldson came to town and put up at a hotel. He is a bank note expert and had with him a lot of counterfeit bills to show the St. Louis bankers, which for safe keeping he stored between the mattresses of his bed. A thief stole every one of them, leaving the pocket-book and papers, but, with a misguided courtesy for which he must have cursed himself afterwards, selecting only the coney. The reflections of that burglar when he reached a secluded spot and examined his loot must have been instructive. What is the use of a man being ambitious and energetic and anxious to rise in his vocation if he is to be met with such luck as this? It would be safe to bet that for a time at least he soured on humanity and grieved over the artificial state of society that makes men coniackers. It would be reasonable to believe that he concurs in the severity of the laws which punish the utterers of false money, and no doubt he deprecates their attacks on the very foundations of commercial confidence. No man was fitter to be a juror in the Biebusch case than he, for no man in the country ever went through the complicated process of shoving several hundred dollars' worth of queer upon himself. No man could ever take such high moral ground as he, of hating the sin and loving the sinner; for no man ever played it so low down on himself. If this country has got to such a pass that a man has to know as much as a college professor and a government detective in order to commit an ordinary burglary, then the time has come for something to be done.

MAYOR HOWELL, of Brooklyn, advises Hancock to assure the public at an early date that he does not favor the payment of the Confederate war debt. It is to be hoped that General Hancock will do nothing of the kind. The Confederate debt is as dead as the Confederacy itself; and if Hancock's record is not sufficient proof that he does not wish to resurrect either, no verbal assurance on this point would do any good. There would be about as much sense in Hancock's declaring against the payment of the Confederate debt as there would be in Garfield's solemnly committing himself against the re-enslavement of the negroes.—[The Times.

Not so fast, neighbor. There is quite a difference. Democrats do not charge that Garfield will re-enslave the negro, but the Republicans have for years charged that a Democratic President and Democratic Congress mean the payment of the rebel debt. So effective was this particular charge four years ago that Mr. Tilden was compelled to write an open letter just before the October elections, in which he pledged himself in the strongest and most unequivocal language to oppose the payment of any debt or claim or pension whatsoever to the South. Those who, like the writer, went on the stump and through the canvass in 1876 agreed that of all the Republican campaign lies none was more effective than the cry about the "rebel debt." In fact Mr. Tilden's famous letter on the subject was a forced evidence of the efficacy of that cry. Mr. Hancock will do wisely in saying as early as possible what Mr. Tilden put off until it was almost too late.

THE Globe-Democrat thus expresses the Republican partisan view of the situation:

If it is settled that the one indispensable qualification for office here is loyalty to the Confederacy, Missouri Democracy will at once take rank with that of South Carolina or Mississippi, and the material progress of the State will be indefinitely postponed. If the party select its officers without a thought of proscribing the few Union men who are unaccountably within its ranks, and conduct the canvass with a show of intelligence devoid of prejudice, it will do much to remove the reproach which its domination has fastened on the State.

Weeding a Wide Row.

Governor Foster, of Ohio, says that Jewell was selected Chairman of the Republican Committee at Chicago. Consequently, the distempered effort of Garfield and others to get Cameron to serve meant nothing. Really, those persons are weeding a wide row.

Miss English.

[From the Albany (N. Y.) Argus.]

Rose English, the only daughter of the Democratic candidate for Vice-President, is remembered in Washington as a charming and beautiful young lady, who was the attraction at Mrs. Speaker Kerr's receptions. She has since married a Louisville physician.

Gen. Garfield has not up to this moment resigned his seat in the Senate of the United States. Until he does so there is no reason in the Republican demand for Gen. Hancock's resignation of his commission in the army.

Getting an Education.

[From the Boston Post.]

Grant is progressing admirably. He can now make a speech as long as one of Wm. M. Evarts' best sentences. The Kansas air and the nomination of Hancock seem to have braced him up.

GARFIELD'S LETTER.

In Favor of a Solid North, of Sectional Prejudices, of Protection, of Partisan Civil Service, Etc.

A Meanly Conceived but Well Written Document.

MENTOR, O., July 12.—Gen. Garfield has forwarded to Senator Hoar, of Massachusetts, the following letter of acceptance of the nomination tendered him by the Republican National Convention:

THE LETTER OF ACCEPTANCE.

MENTOR, O., July 10.—DEAR SIR: On the evening of the 8th of June last, I had the honor to receive from you, in the presence of the committee of which you were chairman, the official announcement that the Republican National Convention at Chicago had that day nominated me as their candidate for President of the United States. I accept the nomination with gratitude for the confidence it implies, and with a deep sense of the responsibilities it imposes. I cordially indorse the principles set forth in the platform adopted by the Convention. On nearly all the subjects of which it treats my opinions are on record among the published proceedings of Congress. I venture, however, to make special mention of some of the principal topics which are likely to become subjects of discussion. Without reviewing the controversies which have been settled during the last twenty years, and with no purpose or wish to revive the passions of the late war, it should be said that, while Republicans fully recognize and will strenuously defend all the rights retained by the people and all the rights reserved to the States, they reject the pernicious doctrine of State supremacy, which so long crippled the functions of the National Government, and at one time brought the Union very near to destruction. They insist that the United States is a nation, with ample powers of self-preservation, that its Constitution and the laws made in pursuance thereof "are the supreme law of the land;" that the right of the nation to determine the method by which its own Legislature shall be created can not be surrendered without abdicating one of the fundamental powers of the Government; that the national laws relating to the election of Representatives in Congress shall neither be violated nor evaded; that every elector shall be permitted freely and without intimidation to cast his lawful vote at such election and have it honestly counted, and that the potency of his vote

SHALL NOT BE DESTROYED

by the fraudulent vote of any other person. The best thoughts and energies of our people should be directed to those great questions of national well-being in which all have a common interest. Such efforts will the soonest restore to perfect peace those who were lately in arms against each other, for justice and goodwill will outlast passion. But it is certain that the wounds of the war cannot be completely healed, and the spirit of brotherhood cannot fully pervade the whole country, until every citizen, rich or poor, white or black, is secure in the free and equal enjoyment of every civil and political right guaranteed by the Constitution and the laws. Wherever the enjoyment of these rights is not assured discontent will prevail, immigration will cease, and the social and industrial forces will continue to be disturbed be the migration of labor and the consequent dimunition of prosperity. The National Government should exercise all its constitutional authority to put an end to those evils, for all the people and all the States are members of one body, and no member can suffer without injury to all. The most serious evils which now afflict the South arise from the fact that there is not such freedom and toleration of political opinion and action that the minority party can exercise an effective and wholesome restraint upon the party in power. Without such restraint party rule becomes tyrannical and corrupt. The prosperity which is made possible in the South, by its great advantages of soil and climate, will never be realized until every voter can freely and safely support any party he pleases. Next in importance to freedom and justice is popular education; without which neither justice nor freedom can be permanently maintained. Its interests are intrusted to the States and to the voluntary action of the people. Whatever help

THE NATION CAN JUSTLY AFFORD,

should be generously given to aid the States in supporting common schools, but it would be unjust to our people and dangerous to our institutions to apply any portion of the revenues of the nation or of the States to the support of sectarian schools. The separation of the church and State in everything relating to taxation should be absolute. On the subject of national finances my views have been so frequently and fully expressed that little is needed in the way of additional statement. The public debt is now so well secured, and the rate of annual interest has been so reduced by refunding, that rigid economy in expenditures and the faithful application of our surplus revenues to the payment of the principal of the debt will gradually but certainly free the people from its burdens and close with honor the financial chapter of the war. At the same time the Government can provide for all its ordinary expenditure and discharge its sacred obligations to the soldiers of the Union and to the widows and orphans of those who fell in its defense. The resumption of specie payments, which the Republican party so courageously and successfully accomplished, has removed from the field of controversy many questions that long and seriously disturbed the credit of the Government and the business of the country. Our paper currency is now as national as the flag, and resumption has not only made it everywhere equal to coin, but has brought into use our store of gold and silver. The circulating medium is more abundant than ever before, and we need only to maintain the equality of all our dollars to insure to labor and capital a measure of value from the use of which no one can suffer loss. The great prosperity which the country is now enjoying should not be endangered by any violent changes or

DOUBTFUL FINANCIAL EXPERIMENTS.

In reference to our custom laws a policy should be pursued which will bring revenue to the Treasury and will enable the labor and capital employed in our great industries to compete fairly in our own markets with the labor and capital of foreign production. We legislate for the people of the United States, not for the whole world, and it is our glory that the American laborer is more intelligent and better paid than his foreign competitor. Our country canot be independent unless its people, with their abundant natural resources, possess the requisite skill at any time to clothe, arm and equip themselves for war and in time of peace to produce all the necessary implements of labor. It was the manifest intention of the founders of the Government to provide for the common defense, not by standing armies alone, but by raising among the people a greater army of artisans, whose intelligence and skill should powerfully contribute to the safety and glory of the nation. Fortunately for the interest of commerce there is no longer any formidable opposition to appropriations for the improvement of our harbors and great navigable rivers, provided that the expenditures for that purpose are strictly limited to works of national importance. The Mississippi River with its great tributaries is of such vital importance to so many millions of people that the safety of its navigation requires exceptional consideration. In order to secure to the nation the control of its waters, President Jefferson negotiated the purchase of a vast territory extending from the Gulf of Mexico to the Pacific Ocean. The wisdom of Congress should be invoked to devise some plan by which that great river shall cease to be a terror to those who dwell upon its banks, and by which its shipping may safely carry the industrial products of 25,000,000 people. The interests of agriculture, which is the basis of all our material prosperity, and in which seven-twelfths of our population are engaged, as well as the interests of demand that the facilities for cheap transportation shall be increased by the use of all our great water-courses. The material interests of this country, the traditions of its settlement and the sentiments of our people have led the Government to offer the widest hospitality to emigrants who seek our shores for new and happier homes, willing to share the burdens as well as the benefits of our society, and intended that their posterity shall become an undistinguishable part of our population. The recent movement of the Chinese to our Pacific coast partakes but little of the qualities of such an emigration either in its purposes or its results. It is too much like an importation to be welcomed without restriction, too much like an invasion to be looked upon without solicitude. We cannot consent to allow any form of servile labor to be introduced among us under the guise of immigration. Recognizing the gravity of this subject, the present administration, supported by Congress, has sent to China a Commission of distinguished citizens for the purpose of securing such a modification of the existing treaty as will prevent the evils likely to arise from the present situation. It is confidently believed that these diplomatic negotiations will be successful, without the loss of commercial intercourse between the two powers, which promises a great increase of reciprocal trade and the enlargement of our markets. Should these efforts fail, it will be the duty of Congress to mitigate the evils already felt, and prevent their increase by such restrictions as, without violence or injustice, will place upon a sure foundation the peace of our communities and the freedom and the dignity of labor. The appointment of citizens to the various executive and judicial offices of the Government is perhaps the most difficult of all the duties which the Constitution has imposed upon the Executive.

MANUFACTURES AND COMMERCE,

THE CONVENTION WISELY

demands that Congress shall co-operate with the executive departments in placing the civil service on a better basis. Experience has proved that, with our frequent changes of Administration, no system of reform can be made effective and permanent without the aid of legislation. Appointments to the military and naval service are so regulated by law and custom as to leave but little ground of complaint. It may not be wise to make similar regulations by law for the civil service. But without invading the authority or necessary discretion of the Executive, Congress should devise a method that will determine the tenure of office and greatly reduce the uncertainty which makes that service so uncertain and unsatisfactory. Without depriving any officer of his rights as a citizen, the Government should require him to discharge all his official duties with intelligence, efficiency and faithfulness. To select wisely from our vast population those who are best fitted for the many offices to be filled requires an acquaintance far beyond the range of any one man. The Executive should therefore seek and receive the information and assistance of those whose knowledge of the communities in which the duties are to be performed best qualifies them to aid in making the wisest choice. The doctrines announced by the Chicago Convention are not the temporary devices of a party to attract votes and carry an election. They are deliberate convictions, resulting from a careful study of the spirit of our institutions, the events of our history and the best impulses of our people. In my judgment these principles should control the legislation and administration of the Government. In any event until experience points out a better way. If elected, it will be my purpose to enforce strict obedience to the Constitution and the laws, and to promote as best I may the interest and honor of the whole country, relying for support upon the wisdom of Congress, the intelligence and patriotism of the people and the favor of God.

THEY WILL GUIDE MY CONDUCT

With great respect, I am very truly yours,

J. A. GARFIELD.

To Hon. George F. Hoar, Chairman of Committee.

The Eighteenth Ward Ticket.

ST. LOUIS, JULY 13, 1880.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The friends of Col. Crittenden in the Eighteenth Ward have determined to put a ticket in the field at the primary election for delegates to the State Convention next Saturday openly and above board. That ticket will be W. M. Samuel, T. F. Hayden and J. H. Maxon. If the name of either one of these gentlemen should be tacked on to other tickets it will be the work and maneuvers of the enemies of Crittenden, and any ticket will be spurious, unauthorized and intended to deceive which has one of these names without the other two. A great deal of noise and clamor has been made as to this ward, and it has been asserted unblushingly that it would be carried for another candidate or at least divided.

It is to meet this issue just as squarely as it can possibly be met that the friends of Col. Crittenden have secured the consent of W. M. Samuel, T. F. Hayden and J. H. Maxon to run as delegates with the distinct understanding that they, and those who vote for them, are unflinchingly for Crittenden, first, last and all the time.

It is a ticket strong enough to win in that ward over any combination that can be made to defeat it, and Col. Crittenden is to be congratulated upon the support of such men and their friends. A. W. S.

Prosecutions Under Game Laws.

The East St. Louis Gun Club is making preparations to protect the fish and game about St. Clair and adjoining counties. As soon as the high water subsides an amount of fish will be left in Canteen and the various other lakes in that vicinity, and to preserve these for sport the club has resolved to vigorously prosecute any person caught seining. They propose to open up a prosecution of amateur sportmen who go into Illinois killing any species of game they meet with in hunting. Until the 15th of August, under the Illinois game laws, only the black bird and crow can be killed, as they are injurious to the crops. After the 15th of August the prairie chicken can be shot and later the quail. The members of the club are determined upon executing their intentions and want violators of the game laws to take warning, as the prosecutions will be carried on at any cost.

EUREKA SPRINGS.

What a Missouri Editor Has to Say About the Wonderful Waters.

Mr. John B. Williams, the veteran editor of the Fulton Telegraph, arrived in the city yesterday on his way home from Eureka Springs, Ark. He went down there something over two weeks ago in somewhat feeble health and comes back a new man. It is, therefore, not surprising that he should speak in enthusiastic terms of the wonderful curative powers of the waters.

"Why," said he to a POST-DISPATCH reporter, "I never saw anything like it. No man can believe what the water will do till he goes there and tries it and sees it tried on others. I was there only two weeks, but I saw.

CURES THAT WERE MARVELOUS.

You know how I looked when I went down. I was suffering fearfully from dyspepsia and was very pale and weak. I now feel almost as well as I ever did, and you can see what a change has taken place in my appearance."

"What kinds of diseases does the water cure?"

"Well, it cures almost everything. I may name rheumatism, dyspepsia, insanity, epilepsy, sore eyes, all skin and blood diseases, and a great many other complaints that I cannot now remember. The water has a most remarkable effect upon the hair and is a sovereign remedy for baldness. This is indisputable, for I saw men who had gone there with bald heads going away with a new growth of hair. One man had growing on top of his head and down over his old gray hair. He was the happiest man I ever saw."

NEW BROWN HAIR

"You think, then, the water is no humbug?"

"Humbug! No, indeed it is no humbug. There are now one thousand sick people there, and nearly all of them speak of the effect of the water in the highest terms. I think it is the greatest discovery of the age."

"How large is the town of Eureka?"

"There are about 4,000 people there and it is rapidly growing. They have two newspapers, very good hotels, and the place is quite cool at night, as it is in the mountains. It is only seven miles from White River, which is one of the best fishing streams in the country. The road to Eureka is pretty rough. You go by way of the St. Louis and San Francisco Railroad to Pierce City, and there take the stage for fifty miles, and this stage road will stir up most anybody. But the scenery along the way is splendid, and I enjoyed the ride very much."

"Then you recommend all the sick people to go to Eureka."

"Yes, I do most emphatically."

THE SALVATION ARMY.

"General" Haskell and His Force to Attack the Citadel of Sin on Christy Avenue.

"General" Haskell and the Salvation Army, located on Missouri avenue, East St. Louis, are meeting with great success in point of attendance. While a reporter was taking in a case of goat poisoning at Justice Graney's office, East St. Louis, in which a little girl testified that she noticed the goats looked sick and pale, "Gen." Haskell caught him by the arm and escorted him to the tent to show the improvements he has been making since he located in this vicinity. At the goat trial a biblical question arose in the scribe's mind, and meeting the "General" he asked "Do you think a person guilty of poisoning a goat will be saved?" to which he replied slowly after some thought, "Well, I don't think they have quite as good a chance as reporters." At the tent the reporter was introduced to the female lieutenants. Two of the ladies were sitting on the organ platform making a pair of pants such as Mark Twain describes as his portion of the dried clothes in the Tramp Abroad after the storm. Others were engaged washing and others in preparing cold slaw for dinner. The tent now covers a large area of ground, and composes several sleeping apartments and a large dining tent. "We are meeting with immense success," said "Gen." Haskell; "every evening the place is crowded. You see, we now have excellent accommodation, plenty of sleeping room, and if you find yourself in want of a lodging place come over here and we will put you up a peg from which you can hang. Only last night an actress whom we accidentally met a few days ago came with us and gave herself to the Lord."

"What are your plans for the future?"

"Well, we will have to discontinue starring at the Theatre Comique, the weather being entirely too warm. But at 5 o'clock next Sunday afternoon we will proceed to Christy avenue, and at the corner of Eighth we will hold a meeting. At 6 p.m. we will hold another on the Levee, just above the bridge, and in the evening at the Court-house."

"When will you leave East St. Louis?"

"Well, I do not know just now, but we will remain for a while yet. We will next go to St. Louis; we have upwards of thirty-six people sitting at our table now." After receiving a drink of water which the "General" pressed the reporter to take, the latter took his leave.

Some Military Questions Answered.

ST. LOUIS, July 12, 1880.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Will you please answer the following questions through the columns of your paper?

1. For what length of time is a man allowed to join the United States Army?
2. If he joins through the recruiting office in this city will he be drilled here?
3. What wages does a common soldier get?
4. Can any one join, or what are the requirements necessary.
5. Is a furlough difficult to obtain?
6. Where is the recruiting office located in this city?

Respectfully, W. S.

[1st. Five years. 2d. No. He will not be drilled until he reaches the depot. According to the number of men on hand at the time he joins he may be here 24 hours or 7 or 8 days. When the recruits number 10 they are generally sent away. 3d. $13 per month the first two years of service, the third year $14, fourth year $15, fifth year $16. All the pay over $13 ($72) is kept back until he is discharged, when, unless he has forfeited it by misconduct, it is paid to him. In addition to his pay he also receives rations and clothing. 4th. Must be between 21 and 35 years old; must be at least 5 feet 4 inches high, of good character and sound in mind, health and body. He must also be unmarried. 5. Depends upon the time it is asked and the service the man is on. Generally men of good character have no difficulty in getting a furlonx. 6. For infantry at 112 N. Ninth street, for cavalry at 821 Pine street.]

Cavalry Recruits.

Sergeat Wolfe, the sergeant in charge of the Cavalry recruiting office, 821 Pine street, reports forty-two men as having enlisted in the United States cavalry service during the past three months. There were 190 applicants, but 148 failed to come up to the necessary requirements. The occupations of applicants were chiefly laborers, blacksmiths, farmers, hostlers, harness-makers, soldiers, painters, bricklayers, clerks, etc. In the month of April there were fifty applicants, of which number only sixteen passed and were accepted. In May sixty applications were made and only nine passed. In June there were eighty applicants, only seventeen of whom were accepted. This embraces both colored and white recruits.

Yesterday evening Edward McGran, sixteen years old, fell from a freight car on the W., St. L. and P. R. R. at the Salisbury street crossing, breaking his right leg and injuring himself severely about the body. He was conveyed to his home, Ninth and Mallinckrodt streets.

THE INDUSTRIAL CENSUS

Now Being Taken—Interesting Figures Regarding St. Louis From the Census of 1870.

The work on the Industrial Census is being actively prosecuted. Chief Special Agent Gould says that the six special agents have only in a few cases met with rebuffs, that one or two manufacturers only refused yesterday to give the information. He would, however, wait and see if they would not comply with the law before taking compulsory measures. Mr. Gould believes St. Louis will make a handsome showing and a good advance on her industries. At present he is unable to express any opinion as to how soon the census will be completed.

In this conjunction it may be interesting to give the figures of the industrial census of St. Louis for 1870. This census included the year from June, 1869, to June, 1870. At that time there were in St. Louis county 4,597 manufacturing establishments. The total horse power employed was 15,118; the number of steam engines, 425. The total hands employed in these factories numbered 40,856, of whom 32,484 were males above sixteen years of age, 3,455 females above fifteen and 4,917 youths. The capital invested in manufacturing establishments was $60,357,001, and the wages paid during the year amounted to $24,221,717. The total cost of the material used in the factories was $87,388 252, and the total value of the products therefrom $158,761,013. The following statistics of various important branches of industry in the city of St. Louis for the year ending June, 1870, will be read with interest.

Agricultural implements were manufactured in five establishments; employed 448 hands; capital invested $730,000; wages paid during year $369,000; cost of material $657,450; value of products $1,475,000.

Bags other than paper—5 establishments; 314 hands employed; capital invested, $505,000; wages paid during year, $192,000; cost of material, $1,442,500; value of products, $5,000,000.

Boots and shoes—148 factories; 709 hands employed; capital invested, $376,900; wages paid during year, $454,655; cost of material, $957,580; value of products, $1,990,940.

Bread and other bakery products—185 establishments; 799 hands employed; capital invested, $654,260; wages paid during year, $435,850; cost of materials, $1,963,734; value of products, $2,936,085.

Men's clothing—366 establishments; 3,077 hands employed; capital invested, $2,139,425; wages paid during year $1,629,180; cost of material, $3,311,626; value of products, $6,665,617.

Women's clothing—131 establishments; 823 hands employed; capital invested $243,425; wages paid during year, $203,650; cost of materials $597,800; value of products, $1,011,420.

Flouring mills products—31 establishments; 684 hands employed; capital invested, $3,850,000; wages paid during year, $419,320; cost of material, $12,590,846; value of products $15,717,765.

Stoves—17 establishments; 1,564 hands employed; capital invested, $2,762,500; wages paid during year, $2,174,194; cost of material, $1,416,775; value of products, $2,937,950.

Malt liquors—40 establishments; 630 hands employed; capital invested, $4,248,800; wages paid during year, $556,240; cost of materials, $2,184,760; value of products, $6,105,500.

Pork packing—12 establishments; 530 hands employed; capital invested, $3,237,000; wages paid during year, $342,300; cost of materials, $8,544,094; value of products, $11,443,845.

Tobacco and snuff—Thirty-six establishments; 1,408 hands employed; capital invested, $2,173,500; wages paid during the year, $765,500; cost of materials, $4,204,750; value of products, $7,620,940.

Cigars—Two hundred and sixty-four establishments; 1,185 hands employed; capital invested, $470,260; wages paid during the year, $504,697; cost of materials, $712,692; value of products, $1,765,593.

Salomon's Census.

It is reported that Supervisor Salomon claims that he has sent on 380,000 names to Washington as the population of St. Louis. The information comes direct from the Census Bureau, but Col. Salomon, it is understood, says that he still knows nothing definite about the total number of inhabitants.

PATRICK E. FLETCHER.

Resolutions of Respect Passed by the Provision Men To-Day—The Funeral.

The death of Mr. Patrick E. Fletcher has removed from the Merchants' Exchange one of its best known and most valued members. The provision merchants among whom he has spent the busiest years of his life were to-day talking of little but his loss. When the Exchange met this morning, Mr. W. E. Richardson the president of the Pork Packers' Association called the provision dealers together in the directors' room, and after several panegyrics on the deceased merchant, Messrs. E. B. Kirby, M. McEnnis, A. Craig, W. S. Bartley and Geo. J. Kinsky were appointed a committee to draw up resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting on its loss, which they did in the following terms:

A meeting of the Pork Packers' Association and provision dealers of the Exchange was held on the 13th of July, 1880. The following resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, We are called to mourn the loss of a member of this association, Patrick Fletcher, and desiring to render some tribute to his worth and to show our respect and regard for the deceased it was Resolved, 1. That in the death of Patrick E. Fletcher the association and the business interests of St. Louis have lost one of their most active and valuable members.

2. That we recognize in the life of Mr. Fletcher, whether in prosperity or adversity, an honorable, honest, industrious, energetic, benevolent man, whose large-hearted, impulsive nature was always responsive to the right, forgiving and condemning the wrong, and whose hand and purse were open to the poor and unfortunate.

3. That as a further testimonial of our high regard for the deceased the members of this association and of this meeting attend the funeral in a body.

4. That a copy of these proceedings be furnished the widow of the deceased, and that the sympathies of the members of this meeting be tendered to his family in their bereavement.

W. E. RICHARDSON,
President.

Mr. Fletcher leaves a large family, but they are well provided for, and the funeral to-morrow will be one of the largest ever known in Stoddard Addition. The provision men will walk in procession from the house on Wash, near Twenty-fourth, to St. Bridget's Church, where Father Fenlon will preach the sermon. The funeral will start at two o'clock. The pall-bearers are Messrs. M. McEnnis, W. D. Grant, E. P. Horner, J. B. Imbs, John Finn, W. H. Scudder, E. B. Kirby and Frank Gaiennie.

A FREE FIGHT.

Sixteen Souls That Hammered Each Other as One.

Manning's saloon, on Olive street near the car stable, was the scene last week of a row that would have done honor to Donnybrook fair in its halcyon days.

Mr. Hodnett and a Mr. Costello had a difference of opinion upon some question which has not transpired. Hodnett probably called Costello a blue jay with a tinge of clabber in his composition, and it is thought likely that Costello hurt Hodnett's feelings by insinuating that he sucked eggs. However, the fight began and friends of both parties chipped in with a cheerful alacrity that spoke volumes for their love of amusement. Whenever a head was visible it became an objective point for some strong-muscled fist, and in less time than it takes to tell it sixteen irate gentlemen were beating the devil's tattoo upon everything they could reach. There was no ill feeling about the matter at all. Most of the participants loved Hodnett and revered Costello, but just joined it to keep up their spirits and prevent them from becoming lonesome. Hodnett was getting along beautifully, when he got hit in the head with a chair by an enthusiastic lady of the other party, and this interfered with the fracas. The police corralled the lot after some artistic whistling by Mr. Basil Duke, which the local cops claim sounded like the soft warbling of the plaintive canary, and all is again quiet in the vicinity.

Criminal Brevities.

Joseph Burns was jailed this morning for having stolen a silver watch from Wm. Chapman, of 1125 North Sixth street.

Sarah Williams, alias Watson, who bit off the lower lip of Belle Allen last evening, is accused of mayhem. She was jailed this morning.

This morning Judge Cady sentenced David Marshall to six months in the Work-house for having stolen a valise belonging to J. C. Carmack.

Charles Frey this morning waived examination on the charge of having stolen some carpenter-tools from Thomas Chicas, and was committed to jail in default of $800 bail.

This morning John Rose waived examination on the charge of having stolen some $25 worth of goods from W. H. Burke, and was committed to jail by Judge Cady in default of $800 bond.

William Frank, Maggie Logan and Emma Powers were fined $5 each in the First District Police Court this morning for having disturbed the peace. The other cases were of no importance.

Charged With Slander.

Deborah Rosenstein lives at No. 1019 North Seventh street, and Sarah Kirsh, Marx Gabrinsky, A. Marx and Anna Goldman occupy No. 1017, which is just next door. For some time there has been a bad feeling existing between Miss Rosentein and her neighbors, and the culmination was the issuance of a warrant last evening at the instigation of Miss Kirsh. The charge is slander, and Deborah Rosenstein is the defendant. Miss Kirsh's affidavit states that on July 10 the defendant unlawfully, falsely and maliciously did charge the affiant, a female, of something very naughty, by then and there falsely and maliciously speaking of and concerning the affiant in the presence and hearing of other persons, which said false and malicious and slanderous words so used by the said Deborah Rosenstein were greatly injurious to the reputation of the affiant. Miss Rosenstein gave bonds this morning for her appearance before Judge Cady on July 21 to answer to the complaint.

CITY PERSONALS.

Mr. Frank Ryan is much addicted to buggy riding in the suburbs.

Mr. Frank Linton cultivates a beard which makes him look like the pictures of St. Jerome.

Rev. James McCaffrey pastor of St. Patrick's Church, will leave in a few days for a short trip east.

Rev. Father Walsh, of St. Bridget's Church, has gone East for a rest from his onerous parochial duties.

Mr. M. J. Sullivan is quite recovered from his recent spell of sickness. He will leave shortly for the seashore to pass the summer.

Mr. Fergus Ferris, an old St. Louis reporter, and now connected with the Washington Star, is in the city, accompanied by his wife and child, and will leave for the capital this evening.

New Buildings.

Dr. C. Curtman was issued a permit yesterday to build a dwelling at a cost of $2,300 on Ninth and Salisbury streets.

F. Berring's three new houses on the west side of Fourth, between Grand avenue and John street, will cost $4,500.

J. Stanard is building a $400 addition to dwelling on the east side of Oakland avenue, between Cherokee and Utah streets.

F. B. Brownell is building a brick stable at a cost of $500 on the north side of Dickson, between Clay and Glasgow avenues.

Boehm & Sporleder are building a store-room on the north side of Fourth, between Franklin avenue and Wash, at a cost of $400.

Mrs. K. Kulage, owner, was granted a permit yesterday to build a dwelling at a cost of $2,500 on the west side of Fourteenth between Bremen avenue and Newhouse streets.

W. H. Hensick is building a small dwelling on the northeast corner of Obear and Maria streets at an expense of $600. Peter Hilke is building a dwelling near this location at a cost of $950.

NORTH ST. LOUIS LOCALS.

Nearly $1,000 was cleared by the North St. Louis Turners at their picnic given on Sunday.

The members and officers of Oak Lodge, No. 100, Knights of Honor, will give a sociable and entertainment among themselves to-night, and a splendid time is anticipated.

The lumber companies of North St. Louis put their forces of men at work again this morning drawing lumber. The water is still on a stand, and an overflow is not feared.

Miss Flora Pike, the charming and accomplished soprano vocalist, will shortly leave for New York City, where she will be the guest of Col. A. B. Caldwell, the Supreme Secretary of the Foresters.

A Physician's Horse and Buggy Stolen.

Last night Dr. Thos. E. Holland, who lives at 1508 Lafayette avenue, came down town to attend a military committee meeting in the office of Col. J. L. Torry at 417 Pine, up-stairs. The Doctor fastened his horse by a weight, which he threw out on the sidewalk. He was up stairs till eleven o'clock, having gone up about ten, and when he came down to go home found both horse and buggy gone and the weight remaining. He was immediately convinced that a theft had been committed and notified the police, who sent telegrams all over the city. Nothing had been heard of the horse and buggy up to 3 o'clock this afternoon, though it is more than probable they will be captured. If not the loss will be about $400.

The Adventures of a Rag-Picker's Horse.

A rag-picker's horse, disgusted with the tropical heat prevailing this morning, determined to seek a place where zephyrs blew. Breaking loose from the wagon, with the shafts attached to him, he ran down Franklin avenue from Twenty-third to Twenty-second streets, keeping in the cool on the shady side of the pavement. Pedestrians scattered quickly, and a herculean policeman who tried to bluff off the animal was driven into a store. No damage is reported except to the wagon.

Criminal Court.

The cases of Oliver Smith for forgery and larceny, of Charles Lewis and Valentine Burke for burglary, of Valentine Rush for burglary and larceny, of Timothy Dailey for larceny and of Moses Ellis for incest, were continued until the next term of court. The trial of Albert Kuehn for assault to kill on Geo. Scheiffelen was progressing at a late hour this afternoon.

Death From a Sunstroke.

The Coroner held an inquest on the body of Lees Loomis, an Englishman, thirty years old, who was sunstruck yesterday afternoon and died from its effects at a late hour last evening. Loomis was a blacksmith by trade, and had a wife and child, who are now in England. He lived on Russell avenue between Arsenal street and Gravois road.

IT IS HOT.

For Further Particulars Read the Following.

This is the hottest day of the season. It does not equal the deadly days of July, 1878, or 1879, and the extreme heat has thus far failed to produce a single case of coup de soliel. Yesterday one plain drunk and two more this morning were mistaken by the police as cases of sunstroke, and the victims of alcohol were lugged to the Dispensary and after a thorough douche of ice water were transported to the Four Courts. The air is very clear, the minimum humidity to-day being 36°. There is a pleasant breeze in circulation and the atmosphere is not oppressive. There are, however, no indications of relief for several days and it will be well for all persons actively engaged out of doors to take the best care of themselves. Sun umbrellas are a good thing to use. To sit in the shade where a breeze will fan the perspiring brow is very sensible conduct. It is rumored that claret punch is a very valuable contingent to these surroundings. To-morrow will be as dangerous as to-day. The following readings of thermometers were secured by POST-DISPATCH reporter: U. S. Signal Service, 7 a. m., 82°; 10 a. m., 87°; 2 p. m., 94°. Maximum, 95°. This occurred at 1:30. Aloe's, corner Fourth and Olive, 8 a. m., 85°; 12 m., 91°; 2:30 p. m., 95 1-2°.

At 2:30 Blattner and Adams' thermometer registered 100 degrees. This thermometer is in an exposed condition. Aloe's is in the shade of the Bank of Commerce building at this hour.

Sale at the Custom-House.

At the new Custom-house on the corner of Ninth and Olive, which is now awaiting its roof and thus nearing the beginning of the end, the Superintendent, Mr. Cameron, had announced an auction sale at 2 p. m. to-day. The vendue was for the purpose of disposing of a lot of material and implements which had been used in the construction of the building. It comprised old chains, ropes, rubber hose, blocks, sheaves, hoisting blocks, etc., pumps and derricks. Judge Lanham was the auctioneer. The attendance was fair and the bidding quite spirited. The principal purchasers were P. P. Manion, the Pipe Iron and Metal Company, Westlake and Button Novelty Company, Shickle, Harrison and Co., etc. Terms cash. The sale is still in progress.

A GENTLEMAN found a portemonnaie about 8 o'clock last evening on the south side of Olive between Ewing and Leffingwell avenues and left it at McDonald's drug store, corner of Olive and Garrison, where it awaits an owner.

PILOTS John Evelyn and Frank Meeker brought the Joseph H. Bigley to this port. Joe H. Williams and Amos Gardner brought round from Madison the new raft tug Menominee.

THE case of Henry Lack, charged with attempted grand larceny, was continued generally in the Criminal Court this afternoon at the request of the prosecuting witness, Chas. Smith.

DR. BARRETT mourns the loss of a case of instruments that was stolen from his buggy on North Tenth street.

MONEY.

Discounts are so dull that rates are hardly quotable. One bank reports to-day's demand for money the lightest of the year. New York exchange is firmer and is at par between banks. The stock and bond market was very slack, there being little disposition to speculate and as little to take investment securities.

Robert E. M. Bain, Foreign Exchange, 104 N. Third street, reports: July 13.—Prime bankers' sterling, 486@488; commercial 60-days, sterling, 482@482½; do demand sterling, 486½; do 60-days francs, 525⅛; do demand, do, 520⅝@518¾; do 60-days reichs marks, 94⅛; do demand do, 94⅜@94⅞; do 60-days guilders and florins, 39⅞@40. On 'Change.

MORNING BOARD.

Wheat—Lower, irregular and rather quiet for all grades. There is a large amount of sample wheat on the market which is hardly salable at any price. Most of that which has come here in sacks during the last three days has been in a very damp condition, and unfit for both milling and shipping purposes. Thousands of bushels injured in this way sell for a song, whereas if it were dry it would bring the regular price for No. 2. It is not probable that the market was ever before so overstocked with damp wheat, and its disposal is a serious question. Some of those who have received large consignments of sacked wheat are putting it into bulk, and where it is dry enough selling it to shippers, claiming that they can do better this way than to sell to the millers. Cash opened at 98c, advanced to 99⅝, and closed a shade lower at 99⅝; July opened at 89, went ⅜c higher, and closed lower at 89⅛; August opened at 86⅞, went to 87⅛, and closed lower at 87; September opened at 86⅝ and closed a little higher at 86⅞; year opened at 86 and closed ⅛c higher. No. 3 was active at 89¾ for millers, and No. 4 sold in Central at 87⅛. Rejected 70 bid and offered at 80.

Corn—Firm and reasonably active. Cash opened at 34½c and closed at 34⅝c; July sold at 34⅝c; August sold at 34c; September 34c bid, and 34⅛ asked; year, 30⅛c; No. 2 white Michigan cash sold at 41c; July 37⅞c bid and 38⅛ asked; August 37c bid, and 37⅞c asked. Rejected corn sold at 33⅛.

Oats—Dull and unchanged; cash sold at 24 in Venice; July 23⅛ bid regular, and offered at 23⅛; August 20⅞ bid, and offered 21⅛; September 20 bid, and offered at 20⅞; year 20⅛ bid, and offered at 20⅛; rejected 22⅛ bid.

Rye—Dull as can be. No sales for a week. August No. 2 50c bid and 60c asked, rejected 55c bid this side.

Provisions—There was something doing in orders to-day, but no speculation whatever. The consequence was that the market was quiet. Prices, however, hold up well and are certainly as strong as they were yesterday. The country supply of meats is pretty well exhausted and the product must now come from the large cities.

Pork—Cash was offered at $13 85 and $13 70 was bid for 2,500 barrels by a broker; August $13 50 bid.

Lard—Nominal at $6 70.

Dry Salt Meats—Shoulders may be quoted at 14.65; clear ribs sold at 7.10; clear may be quoted at 7.40.

Bacon—Shoulders held at 5⅛c; clear rib sold at 8⅛c; clear may be quoted at 8.40@8.50.

Hams—Steady at 10@11⅛c.

Tallow—Prime country in oil casks may be quoted at 5⅛c.

AFTERNOON BOARD—2:15 P. M.

Wheat—Steady and unchanged; cash, $1 asked and no bidders; July sold at 89⅞c; August sold at 87c; September sold at 86⅞c; year 86c bid, and 86⅛c asked.

Corn—Dull and unchanged; cash 34⅛c bid, with no off's; July 34⅛c bid, 34⅜ asked; Aug. 34c bid and 34 3-16c asked; September 34c bid and 34⅛c asked; year 30⅛c bid. No. 2 white-mixed cash neglected; July 38c bid and 38⅛c asked; August 37⅛c bid, none offered.

Oats—Quiet and unchanged; cash 24c bid, none offered; July 23c bid and 23⅜c asked; August 20⅞c bid and 21⅛c asked; September 20⅞c bid and 21c asked.

CATTLE—There was a good deal of activity in grass Texans and Indians this forenoon, and the moderate offerings changed hands readily. Local speculators, interior shippers and the canners had fair orders to fill. The bulk of the supply consisted of fair to good grass Indians, which local speculators and interior shippers took at prices a shade stronger, paying from $2 75 to $3 60 in extremes for fair to extra Indian steers. Good and heavy grass Texans were also in better inquiry, and these grades brought from $2 90@3 10@3 12½ per 100 lbs. Grass native in light supply and dull. Good shipping grades were weaker, but there was no supply worth speaking of. Stock cattle dull and not wanted. Milch cows with calves in fair supply and slow. Yesterday afternoon there was but little doing. Ruling quotations weak.

Sheriff's Sales.

SHERIFF'S SALE.—By virtue and authority of a special execution issued from the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court at the City of St. Louis, returnable to the October term, 1880, of said court, and to me directed, wherein the State of Missouri, at the relation and to the use of Myer A. Rosenblatt, Collector of the city of St. Louis, in the State of Missouri, is plaintiff, and John Lady and George Milford are defendants, I have levied upon and seized the following described real estate, situated in the city of St. Louis and State of Missouri, and charged with the lien of tax bill on which this action is founded, and described in said execution as follows, to-wit:

Lot No. 8 in block 13 of the Town of Lowell, having 50 feet front on Second street, by a depth of 150 feet.

And I will, on

FRIDAY, THE 6TH DAY OF AUGUST, 1880,

between the hours of nine o'clock in the forenoon and five o'clock in the afternoon of that day, at the east front door of the Court-house, in the city of St. Louis, State of Missouri, sell at public auction, for cash, to the highest bidder, the above described property, charged with said lien, to satisfy said execution and costs.

Trustees' Sales.

TRUSTEE'S SALE.—Whereas, Peter Koeln and Elizabeth, his wife, by their certain deed dated September 1, 1877, and recorded in the Recorder's office of the city of St. Louis, in book 577, page 240, conveyed to the undersigned the following described real estate in the city of St. Louis and State of Missouri: Lots seventeen, eighteen, nineteen and twenty of J. C. Ivory's subdivision in block sixty-seven thereof, having an aggregate front of one hundred feet on Jackson street, running westwardly one hundred and forty feet in depth, in trust to secure the performance of the conditions of a certain bond in said deed described; whereas default has been made as to said bond in that the monthly payments therein called for have not been made for more than two months past; now therefore, I, the undersigned trustee, will, on SATURDAY, JULY 17TH, 1880,

between the hours of ten o'clock a. m. and four o'clock p. m., at the east front door of the Court-house in the said city of St. Louis, expose the property aforesaid for sale at public vendue, to the highest and best bidder, for cash, in accordance with the provisions of said deed.

FRED A. WISLIZENUS, Trustee.

St. Louis, Mo., June 21, 1880. 60N

TRUSTEE'S SALE.—Whereas, John C. Berberich, a single man, by his deed of trust dated the second day of June, A. D. eighteen hundred and seventy-seven, and recorded in the office of the Recorder of Deeds for the County (now city) of St. Louis, State of Missouri, in book 573, page 183, conveyed to Henry Debus, trustee, to secure the payment of certain notes in said deed of trust described, a lot of ground, with the improvements thereon, in block number seven hundred and fifty-two (752) of the city of St. Louis, State of Missouri, to-wit:

Commencing at the northeast corner of Carondelet avenue and Sidney street, running thence northwardly with the eastern line of said Carondelet avenue twenty-five (25) feet to a point, thence eastwardly parallel with the northern line of Sidney street one hundred and fifty-five (155) feet more or less to an alley, thence southwardly with the western line of said alley twenty-five (25) feet to the northern line of Sidney street, thence westwardly with said northern line of Sidney street one hundred and fifty-five (155) feet more or less to the place of beginning; and whereas default has been made in the payment of the principal note in said deed described and interest thereon and taxes on said property, and whereas said Henry Debus and the Sheriff of the city of St. Louis, Missouri, and also the Sheriff of the county of St. Louis, Missouri, having declined and refused to execute the trust created in and by said deed, and whereas upon the petition of the holder of said note the Circuit Court of the city of St. Louis, State of Missouri, did by its order made the 1st day of July, A. D. 1880, appoint the undersigned, Y. B. Haagsma, of the city of St. Louis, Missouri, trustee, in lieu and place of said Henry Debus, with all the rights, powers and authority in said deed vested in said trustee; now, therefore, notice is given that the undersigned trustee, at the request of the legal holder of said note, by virtue of the authority of said deed of trust, in pursuance of the provisions thereof and of said order of the Circuit Court of the City of St. Louis, will, on between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 5 p. m. of that day, proceed to sell the property above described at public vendue, to the highest bidder, for cash, at the east front door of the Court-house, in the city of St. Louis, State of Missouri, to satisfy said debt and the expenses of executing this trust.

WEDNESDAY, 28TH DAY OF JULY,

AUCTION SALE of the magnificent residence and other real estate of the estate of G. Beauvais, deceased.—Special Commissioner's Sale of real estate in partition.—Notice is hereby given that the Circuit Court of the city of St. Louis, State of Missouri, on the 9th day of June, 1880, in a certain cause numbered 2,786, Room 1, and pending in said court, wherein Frederick J. Beauvais is plaintiff and Adrienne Beauvais, Edward C. Beauvais, Placide M. Beauvais, Reno A. Beauvais and Peter A. Beauvais are defendants, rendered judgment that partition amongst said parties be made of the following real estate owned by them in fee simple, as heirs of G. P. Beauvais, deceased, situated in the city of St. Louis and State of Missouri, to-wit:

1. Lots 15, 16, 17 and 18 of city block 1370, fronting on Tennessee avenue.

2. A lot of ground with improvements thereon situated at northwest corner of Front street (or Levee) and Poplar street fronting 40 feet on Front street and fronting 113 feet 1½ inches on Poplar street, commencing at a point where the west line of Front street crosses the north line of Poplar street; thence north along west line of Front street 40 feet, thence west 113 feet 1½ inches, thence south 40 feet to north line of Poplar street and thence east along north line of Poplar street 113 feet 1½ inches to place of beginning.

3. A lot of ground with improvements thereon situated on north side of Almond street, between Fourth and Fifth streets, bounded east by an alley, south by north line of Almond street, west by First African Church of God and north by land now formerly of public schools, and fronting 62 feet on north line of Almond street by a depth northwardly of 109 feet.

4. Lots 22, 23, 24, 25, 26 and 27, fronting on ... street, and lots 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11 fronting on Second Carondelet avenue, all in city block 37. The magnificent residence of the late G. P. Beauvais, No. 3317 Second Carondelet avenue, is situated on these lots.

And said Court, finding that said real estate was not susceptible of division in kind amongst said parties without great prejudice to them as owners, then and there ordered and adjudged that the same be sold according to law, and appointed the undersigned as special commissioner for that purpose.

Now, therefore, the undersigned, having first duly qualified as such special commissioner in pursuance of said order of sale and by authority of law, will expose said real estate and premises for sale at public auction, to the highest bidder, at the east front door of the Court-house, in said city of St. Louis, on between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. of said day.

Terms of Sale.—One-half cash and balance in one year with six per cent interest, the different payments to be secured by deed of trust on the property sold.

HENRY ZIEGENHEIN, Special Commissioner.

The title is perfect, clear of incumbrance, and taxes all paid. Abstracts of title furnished. For further information apply to Henry Ziegenhein, the special commissioner, at Lafayette Bank, corner Park and Carondelet avenues, between 10 a. m. and 12 m., or to Fred. J. Beauvais, 420 North Third street.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Pickwick.

The cosy and elegant West End theater was reopened last evening and Lecocq's opera of "Girofle-Girofla" formed the programme. The management had generously placed the house at the disposal of the company, to whom the gross receipts were donated. Although the attendance was fair and fashionable, it was hardly as large as could have been desired. The revival of "Girofle-Girofla" was received with much favor. The company have now become familiar with their roles, and the performance is both smooth and easy. Mr. James Vincent's Bolero and Miss Charlotte Hutchings' Aurora were features of the opera. Mr. Vincent's conception of Don Bolero seems to have broadened and ripened, and he gives to it an unctuous humor which marks him as a comedian of excellent merit. The Aurora of Miss Hutchings is a fine personation and illustrates her remarkable versatility of talent. Miss Reca Murilli as the twin heroines does full justice to the music and gives an excellent rendering of the dual character. If anything is lacking it is verve and dash. The Marasquin of Mr. Weeks was capital. Mr. Wm. Luard was a surprise as Mourzook. He had an arduous task in sustaining such a part after the admirable effort of M. Nathal in the same role. He went to work, however, with a will and displayed more fire and animation than he has been credited with, and as a whole his Mourzook was above the average. He sang the music delightfully. The remaining characters were well sustained. There were one or two faults in "stage-dressing" which slightly marred the ensemble. Mr. Taylor directed the orchestra with his known ability. "Girofle-Girofla" will be repeated to-night, to-morrow and Friday evenings. "Fatinitza" is in preparation. On Wednesday and Saturday evenings grand instrumental concerts are announced by the St. Louis Grand Orchestra.

Uhrig's Cave.

Miles' Juvenile Opera Company inaugurated the second week of their engagement with a revival of "Pinafore." It was in this opera that these juveniles obtained such a favorable reputation last season, and consequently there was much desire to see them. The cast was the original one, and a better representation of "Pinafore" has rarely been seen. The scenery and costumes were new and pretty; the stage business had been thoroughly mastered by the little folks, and the performance was lively throughout. Miss Sallie Cohen made a decided hit as Josephine. Her rendering of the Pinaforean heroine was correct and artistic, and is far better than that of many adult actresses. But her splendid singing captured every one. As the Duchess last week her vocal abilities were not so apparent, but as Josephine she proved to be the possessor of a superb voice, clear, distinct and sympathetic in the high notes to a surprising degree. She received encore after encore. Miss Fannie Cohen as Ralph, the hero who believes in the democracy of love, acted and sang brightly and intelligently. Master J. E. Laskers' Captain Corcoran was wonderfully well sung. He has a clear voice, his enunciation is distinct and his movements graceful. Miss Fannie Brough was a pretty-looking Admiral and played the part with considerable humor. The little Buttercup of Miss Fannie Tilton was a splendid performance. Miss Josie Gamel, a little eight-year-old mite, was a most demure-looking Hebe. Master R. N. Fox made a cynical Deadeye. The chorus was good and well trained. Mr. Aug. Waldauer conducted. "Pinafore" will be repeated until further notice.

Schnaider's Garden.

The St. Louis Grand Orchestra give a grand instrumental concert at Schnaider's Garden this evening, where choice selections will be played. This orchestra has a fine reputation, and its concerts have always proved attractive. Another concert is announced for Friday evening.

The Alhambra.

Esher Bros. are providing an excellent programme for the Alhambra. In addition to the female wrestlers and the contortionist, there is a goodly array of variety talent.

M. Louis Nathal.

A benefit to M. Louis Nathal is announced at the Thalia next Sunday evening. Due notice will be given of the programme. This benefit is tendered Mr. Nathal by his many friends, who regret the unsuccessful result of his late professional trip.

ABOUT TOWN.

A PATENT leather valise containing a variety of articles is at the Fourth District Police Station awaiting the owner.

SOME boys threw away thirteen banks of hemp yesterday. Officer Kidney picked them up and took them to the Four Courts Police Station, where they now are.

A BOTTLE of soda water burst at Crone's soda water factory this morning and gashed Mike Kelly's right hand. The wound was dressed at the City Dispensary.

TWENTY-FIRST and Pine streets was the scene of a tragedy yesterday. The role of the bloody villain was enacted by Officer Ferguson; the victim was a rabid dog.

JUSTICE MULLERY this morning issued warrants for the apprehension of Ida Fritz and Wm. Mevers, of Sixth and Myrtle streets, whom Tim Kieley charges with having assaulted and beaten him.

FRED. HOFFMAN was overcome by the heat yesterday evening. He was taken to his room, over Schnaider's brewery, and Dr. Kuhn was called in attendance. The physician pronounced Hoffman's condition dangerous. Hoffman is about twenty-five years old and is employed as a driver on one of Schnaider's wagons.

JOSEPH PRESTON found his wife in company with another man on Fourteenth and Clark avenue this morning. Shortly afterward he appeared at the Dispensary with a bad scalp wound, a black eye and other bruises which he said "the other fellow" had given him. He went toward his home, 221 Division street, vowing vengeance.

INTERESTING INTERVIEWS.

Gov. Wiltz, of Louisiana, Talks Upon the Political Situation.

Jacob Hassinger, an Eminent German Editor, Says that Hancock's Election is Conceded.

Frank Hatton, of the Burlington Hawkeye, Discourseth Upon "Crow" and the Census.

The honorable Louis A. Wiltz, Governor of the State of Louisiana, is in the city and will remain at the Lindell Hotel for several days. About two months ago the Governor passed through St. Louis on his way to Colorado. He was then in very bad health. His face was colorless, and his whole manner was that of an invalid. Two months' rugged experience in the mountains, nights spent beneath cosy blankets, and days made enjoyable by cooling breezes that sweep down from the snow-covered peaks of the Rockies, have transformed the man, and when he grasped the reporter's hand this morning with a firm, steady grip, he was the picture of health, with skin as bronzed, eye as clear and movement as supple as a pioneer. The Governor was at Manitou when the welcome news of Hancock's nomination reached him. "You know," said the Governor, "I have been a Hancock man for many years. I told you two months ago that he was the most available man, and that in my opinion his nomination would create more genuine enthusiasm and command more strength than any man mentioned for the honor at that time. While in Colorado I met gentlemen of prominence in both parties and from all sections of the Union. The Democrats were at the outlook and the Republicans all showed more or less their despondency. They one and all frankly admit the General's strength before the people by reason of his irreproachable career as a soldier and a citizen. General Hancock's strength lies in the fact that he has no enemies.

"Did you read the remarks purported to have been made by Simon Cameron at the Washington depot, which were telegraphed to the organ of the Republican party this morning about the solid South ruling the President, winding up with an ensanguined appeal for a solid North?"

"Yes; I read that stuff. If Simon Cameron made any such remarks they do no credit to his good sense or truthfulness. He knows, for he is no fool, that the interests of the South are indelibly associated with

and when he deliberately states that 'the experience of more than half a century of active political life had taught him no man, after being elected, is stronger than his party, and whatever the motives or purposes of the party were, they would prevail; that from this start the people must beware, for if they elected Hancock all the rebels in the South would start up, and even a Northern Democrat would have no chance for office; and the great industries of the North, and the working classes, wholly dependent upon them, would be wholly destroyed, for the rebels have no interest in the prosperity and power of the North, and they would not be slow in taking this chance to ruin a people whom they had failed to vanquish in the field,' he deliberately utters an untruth that is

AN INSULT TO THE INTELLIGENCE

of any fair-minded man, and which simply shows the blind recklessness of statement that is a sure indication of the desperate strait to which the Republican party recognizes that it is reduced. Mr. Cameron's appeal for a solid North to meet a solid South is unpatriotic and an attack upon a shadow. We of the South want a solid Union, with no South, no North, no East or no West, but one grand and glorious country, each section of which shall live for the other. To my notion the Republican party is in a bad way for campaign material. Our candidate they cannot assail, and the action of the Southern people in bringing to the convention the hero of Gettysburg makes the bloody shirt when waved appear a tattered and very sorry rag, and the cries of rally against the Confederate brigadiers as hollow as sounding brass. I entertain no doubt of General Hancock's ability to carry what are called the close States, and maintain that we have a fair fighting chance in Pennsylvania. In my opinion the three electoral votes of Colorado will be cast for the Democratic nominee, and March 4, 1881, will see Gen. Hancock inaugurated President of the United States. Louisiana will give Hancock the largest majority ever given a candidate. The Republicans, I take it, are in full retreat."

On the subject of Garfield's candidacy, Gov. Wiltz says that it utterly fails to enthuse the party. The Ohio man's personal record is very bad, and, Arthur's noxious candidacy is a heavy weight. The Grant men are still very sore, and anticipating defeat, talk openly about rallying around the old commander in 1884. Gov. Wiltz says that beyond any question Grant's defeat was a good thing for the Democracy, as he would have been the hardest man to beat in the party.

An Iowa Editor.

Mr. Frank Hatton, proprietor of the Burlington Hawkeye, a very pleasant gentleman, is at the Lindell, and a POST-DISPATCH reporter enjoyed a chat with him this morning. Mr. Hatton's paper is one of the most stalwart of Republican organs, and its advocacy of Grant's candidacy was not surpassed in vehemence by the Chicago Inter-Ocean or the St. Louis Boom. Mr. Hatton's paper, like the dutiful organ that it is, is supporting Gen. Garfield, but throughout Mr. Hatton's conversation when diverted to politics there is a vein of sadness, and a spasmodic action about the throat that suggests the swallowing of something unsavory—crow, for instance. Mr. Hatton says that Garfield will be elected, and then wanders off into "but if Gen. Grant had been our candidate ——." Then he regretfully dreams of the ministership now lost to him forever. Burlington's pride has been cruelly wounded by the cold facts brought out by the census. The returns will show Burlington to be smaller than Des Moines. Burlington has been running on an "estimated population of 30,000," and they expected the count would give them 28,000. "But now," says Hatton, "we will do well if we get 20,000."

The reporter made an inquiry about Keokuk, and Mr. Hatton replied:

"The population of Keokuk will be shown to have decreased 500. This figure will represent what remains of the population who have not gone away to accept Federal office."

In an amusing manner Mr. Hatton demonstrated that Keokuk during the past twelve years had furnished more Federal officials than any other town in the country outside of Ohio. In fifteen minutes after Rawlins, Secretary of War, had died an application in behalf of W. W. Belknap was telegraphed from Keokuk, notwithstanding that the little town was at the time represented at Washington by nine men in positions of prominence, in addition to an army of departmental clerks.

A German Editor.

Mr. Jacob Hassinger, editor of the German Gazette of New Orleans, the leading paper of the South published in the German language, and a great power in the Democracy, is at the Lindell, on his way to a trip to Chicago, the lake cities and Niagara Falls. Mr. Hassinger and his paper have long supported the candidacy of Gen. Hancock, and he showed himself in an interview with a POST-DISPATCH reporter to be most enthusiastic at the outlook. "The nomination of Hancock is well received by the Germans, and they will support him in force. The tone of the German Republican press is very conservative, and they concede Hancock's great strength. Arthur is a bitter pill for them to swallow, and many influential Germans who would, under other circumstances, support Garfield, repudiate the ticket on account of its offensive tail." Mr. Hassinger put it strongly when he said, "Wherever I go, when a Republican tells the truth, he concedes the election of Hancock."

THREE DISAPPEARANCES.

A Runaway Boy, an Epileptic and a Father's Darling Daughter.

The police are looking for Willie Fisher. He is fourteen years old, dark-complected, tall and slender. When last seen he was wearing a navy-blue flannel coat, a dark vest, light pants, and blue cloth top shoes. On the 7th inst. he left his mother, Mrs. Sallie Fisher, residing at No. 1110 Pine street, and started for Pacific, Mo., in company with Deno Sanfeliz, a boy whose father keeps a cigar store on Pine street, between Sixth and Seventh streets. The two boys reached Pacific, but Deno got tired and returned home, leaving Willie at Pacific. But Willie did not remain in that town very long thereafter, and where he went to from there is what the police are trying to ascertain.

A LOST EPILEPTIC.

Clark Tompkins is another person whom the Chief has marked "missing." He left his home, 517 Ware avenue, and as he is subject to attacks of epilepsy, his parents are very uneasy about him. He is described as having a black moustache, chin beard, and a dark complexion, as being about twenty-seven years old and weighing some 180 pounds.

A MISSING BEAUTY.

The only other disappearance which has occurred lately and has not been noticed by the POST-DISPATCH is that of Mary Willburn, the daughter of Wm. Willburn, of Berkner Station, Madison county, Ill. Yesday morning she left her home without warning and boarded a train for East St. Louis, at which place she arrived in half an hour. From East St. Louis she came here, and it is on her arrival here that her track is lost. Her father says she is a most beautiful girl, sixteen years old, with a shapely form, eyes large and brilliant, of a pure hazel color, golden-brown hair inclined to curling and just long enough to touch her graceful shoulders and set off her bewitching, childish face and snow-white neck; her feet small and high in the instep; her hands proportionate, white and slender, with tapering fingers; pearly teeth, full red lips, and cheeks glowing with the color of health. All this beauty was enclosed in a simple calico dress and a light straw hat.

A MISSING MAN.

James McGunn is missing from his home, Ninth and Wright streets. He got up Saturday morning at 5 o'clock to make a fire, and since then he has not been seen.

East St. Louis.

Mrs. Zimmerman and family, who intended to go to Summerfield yesterday to spend the hot months, were detained yesterday by sickness.

Constable J. W. Waldron, of Jacksonville, had Henry Monroe locked up at the Station-house to-day to await a train for Jacksonville, where the prisoner will be taken for trial.

The funeral of Mr. James Crowley took place at St. Patrick's Church this morning. A high mass was celebrated, after which the remains were interred in the German Cemetery.

Peter Duffey, an old man who was found very sick in East Carondelet, was taken to the police station, where Dr. Whiton attended him. He was removed to Belleville to-day for further treatment.

Henry Rose, a driver for John Carroll, of St. Louis, was arrested to-day for having no license on his wagon. The license inspectors have repeatedly notified St. Louis teamsters of the necessity of procuring East St. Louis licenses for wagons driven in East St. Louis, and now propose to prosecute all who will not conform to the instructions.

Tom Enwright, who was sentenced to the Belleville Work-house a few days ago by Squire Graney on a charge of vagrancy, is still locked up at the Station-house. He will be forwarded to his destination in a day or two. The police are on the lookout for several other boys who have given them an amount of trouble during the past six months.

A meeting of the Council was held last evening. All the members were present and Mayor Joyce in the chair. Ed. Winters and Tim O'Brien were appointed Deputy Marshals. City Clerk Shannon reported that during the month of June $979 75 was paid in for licenses. A resolution was adopted instructing the Street Superintendent to remove the weeds from the streets as a sanitary measure. A communication from the Orion Gas Light Company proposing to light, clean and repair 200 street lamps for one year at a cost to the city of $7,000 was referred to the Committee on Miscellaneous Matters. The City Clerk was authorized, by a resolution offered by Mr. Wider and adopted, to advertise for proposals to light the principal streets with lamps not to exceed 200 in number. Claims for street labor of June were allowed. The Councilmen from the Fourth Ward were instructed to report a motion at the next meeting naming the streets northwest of St. Clair avenue. After transacting some other business the meeting adjourned to June 26 at 4 p. m.

THE TOOLE FUND.

A Talk With Mrs. Toole—What She Will Do—A Photograph Fraud.

Chief Sexton is highly indignant at what he properly thinks the meanest action of which he has ever heard. Some scalawag is going around the city selling photographs of the dead hero, and largely increasing his sales by claiming that he is a disinterested party acting in behalf the widow. The Chief desires the citizens to treat the impostor as he deserves.

But one new subscription, $25 from the Wainwright Brewing Company, is reported. Mr. Sexton does not yet know into what shape the funds will be put. He says that those in charge are waiting until the subscription is complete.

Mrs. Toole was seen this morning. She was just returning from mass at St. Xavier's Church, whither she had gone, she said, to pray for the spiritual welfare of her husband. Mrs. Toole's chief desire is to secure for herself a home and devote the rest of her days to the memory of the dead and the rearing of his children.

Everywhere about the house are familiar objects that remind her of Toole, and she wept bitterly as she picked up a box containing the various parts of a miniature ship which Phelim never lived to finish. The only gleam of joy in the house was the little golden-haired daughter, who cannot understand the cause of all this grief, and looks on with her large eyes full of wonder. Mrs. Toole is eloquent in her thanks to the people for their kindness in her behalf.

FROM THE AMERICAN POWDER COMPANY.

The Deadshot American Powder Company 304 North Second street, has forwarded $5 to the POST-DISPATCH to be added to the fund for the benefit of the widow of Phelim Toole. The amount has been handed to Chief Sexton.

THE RED RANGERS.

Preparations for the Mass Meeting at Tivoli Hall on Thursday Evening.

Some seventy members of the Hancock Red Rangers of the First Ward drilled opposite Bande's Hall last evening under the superintence of Capt. Brown. They went through all the various military manœuvers, and as many of them were old soldiers, but little trouble was experienced in teaching them. The drill over, several well-known gentlemen made speeches, and then the books were opened for the entry of the names of any persons who might wish to join the club. Some fifteen voters took advantage of the opportunity thus accorded them. Among them were Wm. Gooley and John Devitt, of S. M. Rumsey & Co., who desired their friends to follow their example. The club now has a membership second to none other in the city. Bright new uniforms, torches and transparencies will all be ready by next Saturday. Preparations for organizing a drum corps are making, Mr. George Uhlman having undertaken to carry out this part of the programme. The regular civil meeting will take place at Bande's Hall to-morrow evening. On the following evening, Thursday, a grand mass meeting will be held at Tivoli Hall, northeast corner of Fourth and Elm streets. The Red Rangers and the Veteran Soldiers' Hancock Corps will be present in full numbers. Besides, delegates are expected from other clubs and some of the most prominent men in the city have declared their intention of attending. The principal speakers who have been invited are Colonel J. C. Normile, Governor Charles P. Johnson and Joseph Pulitzer. These will be followed by others of almost equal note. The platform and hall have been beautified for the occasion; transparencies and banners have been procured, and a full band has been engaged. There is no doubt but the assemblage will almost equal in point of numbers and appearance the grand ratification meeting recently held at the Court-house. The public generally, and particularly those who take an interest in the topics now agitating the minds of all thinking politicians, are invited to attend.

A Letter From Crittenden.

WARRENSBURG, July 12, 1880.

Harry Crowley, President Hancock and English Club:

SIR—I have just gotten home from a trip into the State. Upon my arrival I find your letter, accompanied by one from Will R. Lyle, inviting me to address your club at an early day. It is impossible for me to do so now, as my appointments in the State forbid. I hope to be able to do so after the State Convention. Our national ticket will win. It is a superb ticket, commanding the respect of all. I congratulate your club upon the change. It has now enlisted under the banner of as brave a man as ever sheathed a sword or furled a battle-flag. He was a grand warrior in time of war, and equally as grand a patriot in time of peace. He knew when to draw, when to retire the sword—a knowledge possessed by few indeed of our politico military gentlemen. Hurrah for Hancock and English!

Yours truly,
THOS. T. CRITTENDEN.

Hancock Sixth Ward Club.

The Hancock-English-Frost Club No. 1, Sixth Ward, will hold a meeting to-night at Ninth and Palm streets. There will also be a flag raised, and a large assemblage is expected. Music in attendance. R. Wray, president; P. Scandlen, vice-president; D. Meyers, treasurer; J. Tracy, secretary; C. Murphy, captain; M. Upenlander, first lieutenant.

THE CIVIL COURTS.

Two Corporations at War—A Coal Case Involving $19,000.

The Alabama Iron Company brings suit against the Missouri Car and Foundry Company on account to recover $1,000

The Coal Must be Paid For.

John W. Garret has brought an action in which he seeks to recover nineteen thousand dollars from James Hazard and William H. Wilson for the breach of a certain contract by which the plaintiff agreed to deliver to defendants two thousand tons of coal at the depot of the St. Louis and Iron Mountain and Southeastern Railroad, at $6 60 per ton, which the said defendant agreed to receive and pay the freight and settle the bill every thirty days. After the delivery of ninety tons the defendants went back on their agreement, and that fact constitutes the grounds upon which the plaintiff asks judgment.

A Tooth Carpenter's Vindication.

Dr. Joseph Speyer, in order to vindicate himself and establish his reputation among the tooth carpenters of St. Louis, appeared before Justice Taaffe this morning with a clod of medical experts to prove that the false teeth he had made for Charles Callahan were constructed on a scientific basis and that if Callahan's mouth failed to fit the teeth it was not his fault as worker in ivory. Witnesses testified on both sides, and the contest between those who believed Calahan's mouth had been imposed upon on the one hand and the tooth-carpenters who believed the dentist had been wrongfully sued for making a bad job on the other, became so exciting that a large crowd soon assembled and rendered the atmosphere of Judge Taaffe's office so oppressive that the reporter was compelled, before the trial had hardly commenced, to seek refuge in the streets.

THE "WENTWORTH," NEWCASTLE, N. H.

This Hotel will open June 25. It has accommodations for 400 guests, and offers more attractions for pleasure and comfort than any other seaside resort in the country. Its high situation affords beautiful views, both inland and seaward; its healthful atmosphere, the easy manner in which it can be reached, its advantages for boating, bathing and fishing, excellent drives and attractive walks, all combine to make it one of the most charming places on the coast of New England.

Since last year extensive additions have been made, among them one hundred and fifty sleeping rooms, a spacious Music Hall for dancing, theatricals and concerts, Bowling Alleys, Billiard Room, a passenger elevator operated by steam, a large and commodious stable for private equipages, the grounds lighted by the electric light, steam yacht for excursions, etc., etc.

The temperature of the bathing at the "Wentworth" is especially inviting to those unable to endure the shock incident to more exposed localities. An enclosed body of salt water, covering an area of fifty acres, affords a safe and pleasant place for boating, sailing for ladies and children. The drives to the neighboring beaches and other points of attraction in this vicinity are unsurpassed. The veranda, fifteen feet in width, surrounding the House, gives an extended promenade of over 1,000 feet in length, while the view is unexcelled in beauty and grandeur.

An orchestra of twenty selected musicians, under the direction of Mr. John J. Braham, has been engaged for the season.

The House is furnished throughout in black walnut, has the best of beds, its sleeping rooms are of ample size, well ventilated, and from all sides of the House afford fine views. Its cuisine will be found of an unexceptionable character. The "Wentworth" is situated three miles from Portsmouth, N. H., in the ancient town of Newcastle, and is reached from Boston in two hours' ride over the Eastern Railroad. Address

OF 30 YEARS' STANDING CURED.
From Mr. Mathew Kern, forty years an influential citizen of Missouri:
I was ruptured thirty years, and suffered to an extent only appreciated by those visited by this terrible disease. After being tortured by the use of trusses of various kinds my rupture became so large that I could get no truss that would keep it back. About three months ago I applied to Dr. Smythe and Fischer of the Vienna Institute for the Cure of Hernia, 1113 Washington avenue, this city, and received their treatment. Notwithstanding my advanced age (64 years) I was completely cured in three months. The treatment gave me no pain, and is not a surgical operation. MATHEW KERN, 1615 Clark ave.
Another Case
I was treated at the Vienna Institute, 1113 Washington avenue, for a rupture of five years' standing, and was completely cured in two months. The treatment did not interfere with my occupation, and is painless, speedy and safe.
ROBT. G. A. MEIER, 306 N. Fifth st., Residence, 1107 Chouteau ave.
Being aware that hernia (rupture) has heretofore been regarded as an incurable disease, we thought it to produce the above testimony in support of the fact we assert, that ALL cases of reducible hernia CAN BE CURED.
We believe it unnecessary to enter into details regarding the dangers of strangulated hernia; the many deaths that daily occur from that cause should be sufficient warning to the afflicted.
The Vienna Institute for the Cure of Hernia is permanently located at 1113 Washington avenue, this city, and is complete in all its appointments. Ladies will find pleasant apartments exclusively for the reception of females, with private consultation rooms. Persons from abroad can receive treatment and return the same day.
